HOMAGE PAID WASHINGTON IN OAKLAND

Commerce and Industry Halt While People Do Honors to "Father of His Country" on Anniversary of His Birth

Impressive Ceremonies Will Attend Presentation Tonight of Memorials by French to Relatives of the Hero Dead

All of America today did honor to the memory of George Washington, the first President of the United States of America. All of California today bowed in homage to the deeds of the Father of His Country. All of Alameda county today took stock of the 188 years which had passed since he was born to impress his personality for all time upon national affairs. All of Oakland today celebrated the anniversary of his birth and its significance to the world.

The wheels of industry and commerce stopped; banks, schools and stores closed, that the citizens might join in patriotic observance of the national holiday.

WASHINGTON INSPIRES CELEBRATION TONIGHT

Hailed "the head of the first loyalty squad," George Washington, by reason of his birth anniversary will inspire the most impressive ceremony of the close of the war tonight in the Municipal Auditorium when Oakland Post No. 5, American Legion of Honor, and the Elks unite in a program at which presentation of memorials by the government of France to the relatives of Oakland's heroes who died overseas in the world war will be made by J. Neltner, French consul, on behalf of his government. The ardent patriotism of the overseas men and the Elks will predominate. Colonel Charles E. Stanton, author of the phrase, "Lafayette We Are Here," and Admiral Jayne, U. S. N., will represent the active service, Colonel Stanton speaking to the subject "The Significance of the Day," and Admiral Jayne offering a toast to "The Navy." "The Ideals of Washington" is the theme which Rev. Charles S. Price, Four Minute Man and orator of the evening, has an- [illegible]

Hardy C. Hutchinson, exalted ruler of Oakland lodge, will extend the Elks' greetings to the American Legion. The response will be made by Walter J. Petersen on behalf of the ex-service men. The League of Americans and their purpose will be outlined by Clinton G. Dodge, member of the league and the Elks.

MUSIC FEATURED FOR PRESENTATION EXERCISES

Music will be a distinctive feature of the patriotic program. National melodies will be played by the Elks' Big Brotherhood Boys' Band before all join in the "Star-Spangled Banner." Charles Everson will lead the community singing. Solos by Frank Figone, bass; Mrs Clinton G. Dodge, soprano, and Carl Bieri, accordeon, will supplement the oratory.

The War Department designated the American Legion as the body through which should be presented to sorrowing kin and friends the tokens from the French Government. To Oakland Post, 125, memorials have been assigned.

Charles L. Tisdale, representing the Elks and League of Americans, will preside as chairman. War service organizations will be represented on the platform by delegates. All patriotic citizens are invited to participate in the ceremony.

At Knights of Columbus hall the councils of the Young Men's Institute of Oakland join in a celebration of the holiday, with Grand First Vice-President Sylvester Andriano as the orator. Elmhurst and San Leandro Councils united in anniversary exercises; Frank Mitchell the orator.

Churches throughout the city and country yesterday gave homage to the historical figure with special sermons and music.

JOHN W. STETSON, former state senator, justice of peace and leading attorney, whom death suddenly summoned this morning.

JOHN W. STETSON, FORMER SENATOR, DIES SUDDENLY

John W. Stetson, former state senator, president of the California Automobile Association, and attorney for the State Insurance Commission, died at 5 o'clock this morning following an operation at Merritt Hospital.

Stetson, one of the foremost figures in the California bar and a leader in civic and political affairs, was overcome by a stomach affection Saturday night. Diagnosis by physicians showed that the ailment had been developing for several months and that there was almost no chance for recovery. He was taken to the hospital, where an operation was performed last night.

Stetson was twice elected state senator and once chosen as assemblyman. He was a candidate for the United States Congress and was widely known for the active interest he exhibited in reform legislation.

HELD MUNICIPAL PLACE OF IMPORTANCE.

In the local political field Stetson had served as Justice of the Peace, Deputy District Attorney, and as City Attorney, for the Commission in Lunacy and the Insurance Commission.

Stetson took an active part in the formation of the Progressive party and was a close friend of Senator Hiram Johnson when the latter was governor and a candidate for that place. He was a member of the law firm of Stetson & Thompson. He leaves a widow, who was formerly Miss Alice Harlow, and a sixteen-year-old son. The family home is at 305 Lenox avenue.

CAREER IS BEGUN IN NEWSPAPER FIRST.

John W. Stetson was born in Fruitvale on September 24, 1871, and spent practically all of his life within a radius of twelve miles about this city. In 1893 he was graduated from the University of California, and took his first position as a reporter on the Times.

Leaving the newspaper field, Stetson became deputy county clerk under County Clerk James E. Crane. He studied law and practiced with Judge William H. Waste, and was appointed deputy district attorney under Charles Snook. In 1898 he became justice of the peace. He was a member of the Elks, Woodmen of the World, Fraternal Brotherhood and the Athenian-Nile club.

Stetson served in the state senate and was a candidate for Congress. He was at one time a police commissioner of Oakland, and was at all times active in questions of civic and political import.

On August 1, 1903, Stetson was appointed attorney for the State Commission on Lunacy. It was in the election of November 6, 1906, that he was chosen to represent the fiftieth district in the state assembly. On November 3, 1908, he was elected state senator from the fifteenth district.

LOWER MEAT EDICT GIVEN HOT RETORT

Attorney-General Palmer Is Trying to Pass "Buck," Say Local Butchers, Commenting on Ruling of Reduction

California Retail Dealers in Convention Discern Mystery in the Action Out of Court Settling Cases of Packers

An order from Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer that retail meat dealers of the whole country be forced to reduce prices or submit their books to a federal investigation has brought a sharp retort from local butchers, who say that Palmer is "passing the buck" from the shoulders of the packers to those of the merchants.

J. B. Muir of Oakland, secretary of the Retail Meat Dealers of California, charged today at a convention of his association in Sacramento that: "It is only of recent date that cases against the big packers have been settled out of court by Attorney General Palmer for some unknown reason.

"It looks," said Muir, "as though one of the little items of the settlement was the 'passing of the buck' to the little fellow, the retailers, who are always the goat."

PROSECUTORS DIRECTED TO ENFORCE ORDER

The Palmer order directs every United States deputy district attorney to notify the meat men that they must lower prices or be prepared to submit to a federal investigation. The position taken by the government is that the old stocks of meat, bought before a drop in the wholesale prices, are now exhausted and that the retailers should base their prices on the present wholesale figure. The announcement follows the publication of a bulletin by the American Meat Packers, in which it was said that the practical cessation of foreign trade, owing to the adverse exchange situation, had taken away a large market. Wholesale prices in Chicago dropped to pre-war levels, but the retail price did not show a corresponding decline.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF STATE BUREAU FAVORED

The meat men in Sacramento today also took action as favoring the re-establishment of the state bureau of markets to obtain for their membership the advantages of accurate price quotations.

The Palmer order was the one topic of conversation at the convention, where it was pointed out that local conditions are not the same as those in the Middle West and East, where prices are dependent on the Chicago market. It was said that eastern prices are higher than those in California and that most of the meat used here comes from the coast or the southwest.

No one would say just how much a drop in price is to be expected and some predicted that the order will have very little effect in this state.

MAN IS STABBED, STRUCK DOWN BUT FIGHTS OFF THUGS

Stabbed in the neck by one thug and hit on the head by another, in a bold attempt at a daylight hold-up today, C. R. Miller, 848 Isabella street, made so vigorous a resistance that his assailants became frightened and ran. As they broke to run they grabbed at Miller's watch, snatching it out of his vest, but it was held tight by the chain.

The attack occurred at Jones and Grove streets while a number of pedestrians were within hearing distance. The two men stepped out from a doorway and sprang upon Miller as he passed. One of them drew a jacknife, and lunged at Miller's throat when he refused to put up his hands. A slight gash was cut in the side of Miller's neck.

The second man struck Miller violently on the head. Miller called for help, and fought back. He hit one of the robbers in the face and knocked him to the sidewalk. The second man helped him to his feet. By this time men rushed up in response to the calls for help. One of the thugs yelled, "The game's up; let's beat it," and both disappeared around the corner.

Republican Senator of Iowa Opens Debate on Compromise Bill; Railroad Union Men Bitter Against Measure

President Is to Be Asked to Veto Return Plan When Both Branches of Congress Pass It Up to Him in Week

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Federal operation of the railroads will cost the country nearer $1,000,000,000 than $600,000,000, as he had previously estimated Senator Cummins, Republican of Iowa, chairman of the Senate interstate commerce committee, declared in the Senate this afternoon in opening the debate on the Esch-Cummins compromise conference bill, which the Senate took up after the reading of Washington's farewell address by Senator Pomerene, Democrat of Ohio.

President Wilson's proposal for settlement of the railway wage controversy and the compromise railroad bill pending in the Senate were bitterly assailed in the conference here today of the railroad union officials and grievance committeemen who were called to Washington to discuss the settlement policy laid down by the President.

MAJORITY OF UNION LEADERS SEEK VETO

Indications were that perhaps a majority of the union leaders would demand that railroad labor stand together in an appeal to the President to veto the Cummins-Esch measure because of its labor provisions. Some regard it as destroying all progress made during the negotiations with Director General Hines toward a settlement of their demands for higher pay.

Representatives of the fifteen organizations concerned in the settlement proposal met in secret session in as many different halls. Their purpose was to formulate their own views by majority rule and later meet in a general conference. Heated arguments which were admitted to have developed in practically every meeting were expected to be continued in the main conference.

Passage of the bill by the house late Saturday by a margin of 100 votes convinced its backers the fight was won, as the opposition in the lower body was believed to be stronger and better organized than in the senate.

WHY RAILROAD MEN ARE FIGHTING BILL

More than 100 railroad union leaders from all parts of the United States went into session here today to decide what action shall be taken by the fourteen rail unions to gain their wage demands.

The first act of the conference, it was considered likely, when the meeting began, would be to address an appeal to President Wilson to veto the Esch-Cummins bill.

"The unions are fighting the bill because of the financial guarantee it gives to the roads and because of provisions it makes for settlement of wage controversies through setting up of a labor court.

"We want the wage controversy taken up by a joint tribunal of rail executives and employees with full power to consider our demands," said President Bert M. Jewell of the railway department, American Federation of Labor.

"If the Esch-Cummins bill becomes a law any decision that such a tribunal might make would automatically be reviewed by the labor court, set up in the bill. This might delay the final decision a year."

Wilson Sells Nationality

—SENATOR W. G. HARDING

Former Administrator Objects to Making It an Issue

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23.—Herbert Hoover, former food administrator, declared today in an address at Johns Hopkins university his opposition to making the ratification of the treaty with Germany an issue in the presidential campaign. He insisted that injection of the arguments for and against reservations would "obscure our pressing domestic issues by a conflict over a question in which the country already has made up its mind," and added: "It is my impression that there is no party credit in this position."

Hope for immediate ratification of the treaty rested, he said, in the acceptance by the "lesser reservationists" of the proposals of the "mild reservationists." The two combined, he said, could secure ratification.

EUROPE FACES DANGER OF "STEADY DEGENERATION"

"It also appear to us," he continued, "that even from the point of view of the 'lesser reservationists,' they will have secured all of the major functions and values of the league. For my part, if the league cannot prove its value under the latest proposals of the 'mild reservationists,' it will never prove them under the proposals of the 'lesser reservationists.'"

The present danger Europe is facing, Hoover said, is not so much a revolutionary cataclysm as the "steady degeneration of the standard of living and the slow decay of the forces of stability." Restored productivity, he insisted, is essential if the allies are to receive the maximum reparation. "Until then we shall not have real peace," he said. "It will be delayed as long as we hang the treaty in the air, for we are a part of it.

"It would appear to an outsider that both sides were in agreement on all the great major ideas of the league and the major ideas of reservations, but that they are in disagreement most over secondary questions in the reservations. In the meantime the world is held in suspense. Infinite misery goes on accumulating. Forces are set in motion that may yield new conflicts. Already the distrust and undermining of confidence and credit in the world has crippled our export market."

MODERATION COUNSELED IN PARTICIPATION ABROAD

Regarding the part the United States will take in the rehabilitation of Europe, Hoover counseled moderation. "We have two extreme views among our people," he said, "upon the policies we should adopt in all these matters. One contends that the ideal is isolation of Europe to herself, the other contends for at least moral domination as a mission of international justice. Many of us want neither extreme."

Assuming that the treaty would be ratified "some day, in some form," he expressed a hope that it might serve to bring about a reduction of armament and the development of "engines of conciliation, of arbitration and codes and courts of international justice."

Except where the interests of the United States are vitally concerned, Hoover declared himself as opposed to American members on the various missions provided for in the treaty for the settlement of questions raised by the war. The loaning of money, except to alleviate distress, was also opposed. "Our best assistance in healing Europe's economic wounds lies in the promotion of the great processes of private commerce," he said, "not in loans from our government."

Hoover's reference to the peace treaty and its ratification were preceded by statistics calculated to show what he called the "heartbreaking underpayment" of school teachers.

Wilson Blocking Peace Realization, Charge of Ohio Man

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 23.—Declaring the Republican party "will welcome" the responsibility of Americanizing the peace treaty, United States Senator Warren G. Harding at a rally of his home state Republicans here today held President Wilson solely responsible for the senate's delay in ratifying the treaty.

"Essentially alone he negotiated the surrender of American nationality, and still essentially alone, one in a hundred million, he blocks its final disposition," Harding said.

While Democratic senators from the south generally have supported the president in this stand, Harding said, the people of the south are for protecting America's rights.

Senator Harding enumerated a number of things which he declared the Republican platform should contain. Chief among these were:

Perfected Americanization.

Adequate natioonal defense with an ample navy as a first line of defense, world leadership in aviation, stronger army than heretofore and voluntary military training for young men.

Repeal of every extraordinary war statute.

End of bureaucracy, "crowned with autocracy."

Opposition to government ownership and nationalization of industry.

Curbing of government extravagance and "get-to-thinking again in millions instead of incomprehensible billions."

Government subsidy for the merchant marine.

Commenting upon military training, Senator Harding declared himself against its being made compulsory. He said it should be supported by the government camp, in the national guard and in the schools and colleges and made so popular and so helpful that it would be sought as a privilege rather than accepted as a duty.

Business, the farmer and the working man, all must be consulted, he said, but dominated by none.

SENATOR SEES STILL OTHER POST-MORTEMS.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Speaking of the work of the present Congress, Senator Capper said today: "The present Congress has ordered sixty-one post-mortem investigations of one kind or another, most of which will not get anywhere, and has been fifteen months telling what it was going to do for ex-service men, while two wheat crops have gone to seed on the land promised to them. And now we are getting another post-mortem in the Sims charges, if not in the Wilson-Lansing conduct of foreign affairs.

"Meanwhile if the army and navy departments have failed to rob us of the last vestage of our pride in the monumental deeds that a nation's teamwork brought about and made possible during the war, it has not been through lack of trying—a great inducement certainly for mortgaging the wealth and industry of the people enormously to expand the forces under the caste-ruled bureaucratic departments in the way they are asking us to do it.

"While we have been probing, investigating and rambling over everything that was done or was not done during the war, including frauds and scandals, meriting the fullest publicity and the promptest and most exemplary punishment—and letting it go at that—we have given scanty attention to such urgent and momentous matters as the railroad problem, the constant plundering of the people, the crying need of drastic reduction of governmental extravagance, the opening of European markets and restoration of commercial relations.

ARMED U. S. AGENTS TO END REVOLT

Federal Prohibtion Director With Thirty Aides to Leave for Iron County, Mich., to Quell Whisky Insurrection

Wine Seized in Raid by Government Men As Evidence is Forcibly Taken From Posse by the Sympathizers

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Major A. V. Dalrymple, federal prohibition commissioner for the Central States, received word at 12:30 o'clock that telegraphic authorization for him to lead an armed expedition of United States agents into the Upper Peninsular of Michigan had been sent from Washington.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—A. V. Dalrymple, Federal prohibition director for the central states, with 30 armed aides, will leave tonight for Iron county, in the Upper Michigan peninsula, to quell what revenue agents regarded as an incipient whisky insurrection. The prohibition director informed Washington last night that the "country was in open revolt" against Federal authority after he had received reports that prohibition agents leading a party of Michigan State constables were held up February 19, by Iron county officials, and wine they had confiscated was taken from them.

Major Dalrymple planned to have a force of approximately eighty officers assist him in "cleaning up" the county, he said. It would be composed equally of prohibition agents and members of the State constabulary.

P. A. McDonough, prosecuting attorney of Iron county, in a statement issued last night, assumed "all responsibility" for taking the wine from the Federal agents and denied that the county "was in open revolt."

Attorney General Palmer, who passed through Chicago last night, said he could take no action until official reports reached him through regular channels, but declared Major Dalrymple had full authority to enforce the law and would have the complete support of the governmental machinery.

TROUBLE WAS ANTICIPATED BY OFFICIALS OF STATE

Iron River is a small village in the mining country a few miles north of the Wisconsin line. The population of Iron county largely is composed of Italians and Syrians and much "bootlegging" has been reported there recently.

Some Michigan State officials are understood recently to have reported that they anticipated "trouble" in that vicinity because of the prohibition law, but some other officials view the present disturbance as a minor affair.

Statements of McDonough and Leon J. Grove, supervisors of Federal prohibition enforcement in the upper peninsula, on whose report Major Dalrymple based his appeal to Attorney General Palmer for aid in arresting to the prosecutor two deputy sheriffs, two policemen and the three owners of the wine, agreed in part as to the steps that precipitated the present status in Iron county.

RIGHT TO SEIZE WINE WAS QUESTIONED

Grove, accompanied by Lieutenant R. G. Strope and two troopers of the State constabulary, had seized eleven barrels of wine at the Virgil Location, a miner two miles from Iron River, the statements of both men agree, when Grove and his party were met by Prosecuting Attorney McDonough and the officers. That the Federal officer's right to have confiscated the wine was questioned and the liquor was taken from him by force, statements of the two further agree.

There their stories diverge, however. The prohibition agent maintained that he was acting within his authority in seizing the wine, which was the property of John, Joseph and Steve Stalcuzzi, brothers, principal directors of the Peninsula Packing Company at Iron River, and owners of the little town's largest store. Grove asserted the liquor was kept in the store and because of that was subject to government seizure.

McDonough said the wine was maintained in the men's home, their residence being above the store, and that after they being tried in the State Court in connection with ownership of the same wine, the Stalcuzzis were found not guilty of violating prohibition laws.

MAY SEND FEDERAL TROOPS TO AID AGENTS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—"I will ask for federal troops to combat the so-called whisky rebellion in Michigan if the conditions warrant such action," declared Federal Prohibition Commissioner Kramer today. "I believe that the occurrence has been greatly exaggerated and that the situation is not as serious as it may seem, but if full facts warrant drastic action I will give my whole support to Major Dalrymple in a call for federal troops to wipe out those in revolt."

Commissioner Kramer stated that he had not received detailed reports of the "rebellion" yet but that he had information showing that there was a very general violation of the prohibition law in the Iron county district of Michigan.

Assistant Attorney General C. B. Ames will act for the department of justice if action was necessary, it was said.

Spanish Cabinet Quits Over Budget Friction

MADRID, Spain, Feb. 23.—The resignation of the Spanish cabinet today was said to have been due to insufficient support on the national budget and the proposed increase in railway tariffs.

RAIN BRINGS MILLIONS TO CALIFORNIANS

Millions of dollars in crops, cattle and power were saved to California by a state-wide rain which drenched every part of the country except the Sacramento Valley yesterday and which promises to continue this week. The rainfall in Oakland as registered by The TRIBUNE gauge was .24 inch.

Lemon and orange orchards and vast truck gardens of Southern California were saved from the threatened drouth by precipitation which drenched the ground. Thirty-four [illegible] Sierra Nevadas promising to fill the watersheds from which the great irrigation projects and power plants gain their water.

Latest reports indicate that there will be a continued general rain all along the Pacific Coast.

The rains have been heavier and of greater duration in the southern part of the State.

SNOWFALL WELCOME.

An encouraging feature of the present storm is the registration of snow in the high Sierra, 38 inches having been recorded at Summit last night. Although this is far below the normal the situation confronting irrigationists and hydro-power companies is so alarming that every additional inch of snow is of the utmost value.

Last night's rain maintained a pretty fair average of precipitation throughout the central and southern part of the State. According to United States District Weather Observer G. H. Willson, showers accompanied by light southwesterly winds will prevail tonight and Tuesday in the bay region, with a probability of showers and light southwesterly and light southerly winds respectively in Northern and Southern California and in the Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joaquin Valleys.

STATION RECORDS GIVEN.

The rainfall for different points throughout the State for the past twenty-four hours up to 5 o'clock this morning was as follows: Paso Robles, .45; Oroville, .38; Corona, .52; Mt. Wilson, .50; Pomona, .24; Redlands, .52; Riverside, .16; San Bernardino, .30; San Pedro, .50; Stockton, .12; Merced. 50; Lindsay, .10; Porterville, .16; Bakersfield, .10; Rocklin, .18; Sacramento, .04; San Francisco, .24; San Jose, .22; Fresno, .16; San Luis Obispo, .26; Los Angeles, .08; San Diego, .21; Independence, .24; Pt. Reyes, .08; Mt. Tamalpais, .14; Oakland. 24.

RAIN LETS UP IN SOUTH.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23. — The general rains which have fallen over southern California since last Wednesday were over today, according to appearances and in the opinion of the United States Weather Bureau forecasters here. The citrus belts around San Bernadino, Riverside, Redlands, Santa Ana and other cities had received marked benefits, while in the San Fernando valley a precipitation of 2.90 inches insured general crops.

Federal Reserve Board is Determined to Regulate Credits as Commerce Aid

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Determination of the Federal Reserve board to exert the full power of the reserve banking system in regulating and controlling the credit situation, a course designed to aid commerce and industry in restoring a pre-war equilibrium, was disclosed in the board's annual report, made public today.

The board was prepared to "test the ability of the system to check expansion and to induce healthy liquidation. The board explained it was aware of the implied power to rectify the condition which confronts the country. This power necessarily followed the authority for and employment of an elastic system of reserve credit and not issue, it was added.

Recommendations also were made to Congress for amendment of the reserve act which would permit reserve banks to establish normal maximum lines of credit accommodation for member banks.

CREDIT EXPANSION WOULD BE STOPPED

An ascending scale of rates would be provided in event money was borrowed above the maximum line. This the board believed would work to the end that the credit expansion on a large scale would be stopped.

Warning was given that the country must guard against too rapid deflation. It was pointed out, however, that some remedies employed to correct deflation might create conditions worse than inflation itself.

"Deflation merely for the sake of deflation and a speedy return to 'normal' deflation merely for the sake of restoring securing values and commodity prices to their pre-war levels without regard for other questions would be an insensate proceeding," the report said. "It must never be forgotten that modern business is done on credit. One of its life-giving principles is credit. The ultimate test of a credit system must be found in what it does to promote and increase the production of goods. Though in general, the truth of this observation deserves to be particularly emphasized in the present deranged state of world industry and trade when production is the crying need of the hour everywhere."

In explanation of its increase in discount rates, the board said that this had been the traditional method of credit control. Its use, however, was based on pre normal conditions and these, it was pointed out, do not all exist at this time. While a high reserve bank rate was shown to act as a restraining influence upon borrowings, it may attract credit from other centers. It is this condition, among others, that was said by the board to make imperative the use of its power in controlling credit and starting deflation.

ABSORPTION OF WAR SECURITIES IS URGED.

In checking expansion, the board declared most depended upon co-operation of business and the community generally. There is no need for drastic or precipitate action, the report continued. There need be no apprehension as to our ability to effect the transition from war time to peace time.

The processes of adjusting the volume of credit to a normal basis should be effected in an orderly manner.

A plea was made for complete absorption by investors of outstanding portions of war securities.

"While the federal reserve board will always be mindful of the inner-dependence of credit and industry and the influence exerted on prices by the general volume of credit, the board nevertheless cannot assume to be an arbiter of prices. Its primary duty is to see that the banks under its supervision function effectively and properly as reserve banks."

The granting of extensive credits to foreign trade and the resultant keen co-operation in our own markets with the foreign buyer was charged by the board as being "one of the potent causes of high prices." It was shown that the demand for commodities from domestic as well as from foreign sources was so far in excess of the supply that the increased cost of credit can be and is absorbed in the price speculation, therefore has not been effectively checked by advances in interest rates, because of the anticipated—and usually realized—large profits according to the analysis.

LONG TERM CREDITS OPPOSED BY BOARD.

The board restated its opposition to the financing of exports which require long term credits through banking operations as distinguished from appeals to the securities market. Of America's balance of trade for the calendar year—$4,017,745,000 — approximately $2,000,000,000 was declared to have fallen as credit transactions on the commercial banks. Treasury advances during the year amounted to $1,757,989,000, but this was not regarded as sufficient to offset the corresponding measure of expansion necessitated by the carrying of the credit balance.

All of these credit arrangements, it was asserted, indirectly reflected back to the federal reserve banks. Although none of the paper tedered by the foreign buyers was discountable at reserve banks because of legal restrictions, commercial banks which have received it were believed to have turned in order obligations for redicounting which otherwise would not have been sent through that channel.

THREE DEAD, ONE DYING, IS SUICIDE TOLL

Four attempted suicides, three in Oakland and one in San Francisco, all except one of which were successful, marked an unprecedented wave of self-destruction in the bay district over the week-end.

Robert Jamison, a machinist, age 38 years, was found dead in his room at 420 Seventeenth street, with a bullet wound in his head

Joe Martinelli, a teamster, 55 years of age, committed suicide yesterday by inhaling gas in his room at 526 Third street. The door of his room was locked, the windows closed and all cracks stuffed with rags.

John McGinniss' attempt at suicide was unsuccessful, although he is still in a serious condition at the Emergency hospital. He had locked the door in his room at 590 Eighteenth street, closed all cracks with paper and turned on the gas. He was found by Mrs. Mary Jensen.

Arthur H. Bell, former secretary of the San Francisco Builders' Exchange, Third and Jessie streets, last night stepped to a fire escape of the Hotel Irwin, 108 Fourth street, and shot himself in the head with a revolver. His body fell over the rail and to the street seven stories below.

CONFESSION IS MADE BY BANDIT PAIR

MARTINEZ, Feb. 23.—The shooting of Felix Max, alleged bandit, at Pinole and the arrest of Robert Busing, his fleeing companion, at Oakland, Saturday, resulted today in a third arrest which is believed to clean up a dangerous bandit gang.

Edward Matson of San Francisco was placed in the county jail by Under Sheriff William Veale today as a result of the alleged confessions of the other two. They are the three, says the sheriff, who drove a truck to the store of John Silva at Pinole the night of January 21 and removed about $1000 worth of the store's stock.

The arrest of Max and Busing followed a holdup at Pinole. The holdup was reported to Constable Arthur McDonald, who sought and found the bandits and engaged them in a gun fight. He shot Max in the ankle and Busing escaped. Busing secured a ride to Oakland in a farmer's auto where the farmer, whose suspicions had been aroused, turned him over to the police. All three are in jail here.

TRUCK NO. 22.

Savage road conditions through mountain forests fail to halt the enviable record established by Truck No. 22, which for the last three years has hauled logs in the State of Washington. With the aid of a trailer, the old truck has a capacity for 3000 feet of green fir logs. The best of results are obtained, even though the haulage is over corduroy roads. Before the present owner, George Wells of Seattle, Wash., purchased it for $2500, Truck No. 22 had traveled nearly 100,000 miles. The total mileage now is more than 150,000. Three complete overhaulings have sufficed to keep the truck in good mechanical condition. The original worm is intact.

Welshmen From Distant Points Meet at Fete Here

Seven hundred men, women and children of Welsh nationality gathered at Jenny Lind hall at 2229 Telegraph avenue this afternoon to celebrate their national festival of music, literature and art known as "Eisteddfod," under the auspices of the Welsh Presbyterian Church of this city, Rev. O. R. Williams, pastor; 250 in prizes will be distributed in tonight's events.

Welshmen from all over the State, from Arizona and particularly from the bay cities attended the meeting, which will be continued tonight.

Ex-Harbor Commissioner T. S. Williams of San Francisco presided at the meeting this afternoon while Commissioner W. H. Edwards of this city will address the evening gathering. Between meetings the Ladies' Aid Society of the church served tea and light refreshments.

Three choirs are in competition at the celebration and there were also competitions in soprano, alto, tenor and baritone singing in instrumental music and in recitations.

The afternoon session opened at 2:15 o'clock, while the meeting tonight will open promptly at 7:30.

CHILDREN COMPETE.

The afternoon meeting began with the singing of "America" by the audience. Competition recitations by children under 12, competition solos by children under 8, a solo by Theodore Phillips, address by the president of the organization, Rev. Williams; a competition tenor solo, "Thora"; recitations by children under 16 entitled "Lincoln, the Great Commoner"; solo by children under 16, "The Children's Hosanna"; a quartet, "Song of Rest"; adjudication of fancy work, by Mrs. Marion Phillips; a competition duet, "Call to Arms"; contralto solo, "My Dear Soul"; recitation, "Peroration," and a competition chorus of sixteen voices singing the hymn "Trewen," occupied the afternoon session.

The program for tonight, which will be conducted by Rev. John S. Thomas of Berkeley, opens with the singing of a Welsh anthem. Competition solos, pianoforte solos, translations, the singing of songs in the native dialect, the singing of "Soldier's Farewell" by a male chorus, and a chief choral of mixed voices singing "Trembling Soul" are also on the program.

The chairmen of the various committees are: Music, R. D. Parry; literary, Rev. Williams; publicity, Lem Thomas; arrangements, Tom Griffith; decorations, Mrs. E. G. Humphreys, and finance, Captain J. T. Jones. J. H. Matthews was chairman of the general committee, while the Ladies' Aid had charge of the refreshments.

The officers were: Rev. Williams, president; Captain J. T. Jones, treasurer; Mrs. R. D. Parry, secretary.

Since the dedication of the new Welsh church the congregation has greatly increased and the evening services are crowded to capacity, according to a report made by the pastor. A feature of the services has been choral singing under the direction of R. D. Parry.

Giant Burglar Flees Home When Girl 14 Threatens Him

Exhibiting more grit and coolness than is usually found in a 14-year-old girl, Louise Quint, who lives at 2604 Fruitvale avenue, proved the heroine last night of an episode which might have resulted in a tragedy.

Shortly after Louise had been left alone in the house with her small brother and baby sister, a negro smashed into the rear door and grabbed her by the arm, demanding to know whether or not there were any grown persons in the house.

"There are not," replied the girl as she jerked away; "but there are neighbors next door who can hear me scream, and if you don't go away at once I'll do it, and telephone to the police besides."

"What is there in the house that's worth taking?" asked the man.

"There isn't anything, and you had better go away before I call the police," shrilled the girl.

The big black made a hasty search of the room.

"If you want this dime, you can have it. I earned it yesterday ironing for mother," said the girl contemptuously.

"That'll buy coffee and sinkers," said the negro, as he grabbed the dime from the girl's hand and disappeared through the back door. The girl then telephoned the police.

Police are combing the city for the man today. They believe that he had learned the girl was alone but when confronted with her cool bravery [illegible] motive

Gasoline Street Car Data Sent to Davie

Information on the plans of the city of Detroit to install its own street car system with the new Ford gasoline street cars, has just been received by Mayor John L. Davie, who not long ago commenced an investigation of the possibilities of the gasoline car for municipal use.

Writing to Mayor Davie, Mayor James Couzens of Detroit, states that he has seen the cars in operation and that Detroit hopes to be the first city in the United States to use them. A bond issue of $15,000,000 is planned for April for the municipal street car proposition.

Mayor Davie started his investigation with the idea of finding some solution of Oakland's street car problems and he will obtain all available information on the gasoline cars in the hope that method of transportation may solve the question for the city.

She was a native of Plymouth county, Mass., and was a lineal descendant of Miles Standish. She came to California in the early sixties and was the head of the art department of Mills College when that institution was at Benicia. For twenty years she lived in the mountains of Madera county and in Napa valley.

Turn to Right At Ye Liberty Refreshing Play

Peach jam, love, springtime, and a wonderful mother—that is "Turn to the Right." One wonders after an evening at Ye Liberty playhouse this week why more playwrights do not season their plays with the same sort of peach jam and spring blossoms and a wonderful mother. Certainly the son and the daughter and their friends must play up to her. If as Granville Barker, distinguished dramatist and stage director, declared the test of a good play was in the exit of the throng from the theater when every man, woman and child was constrained to turn to his neighbor and proclaim his delight in it, "Turn to the Right" is a superplay. It was a record house yesterday, and it was an impromptu joy meeting which followed the final curtain. A kitchen with an old pump, a clock, a kettle of jam cooling in the window, a peach orchard with trees burdened with luscious fruit, an orchard again in the springtime with every bough a cloud of pink, such were the settings of the three acts. The prologue takes place in a pawn shop a day's journey away where the son, released from Sing Sing, and his two pals begin the march which leads them around the turn to the right and straight to the peach jam. There is plenty of laughter and plenty of heart throbs, and a homely, sincere bit of real life ending in a wedding and a quartet of lovers made happy, which is just as it should be. Thus for the fragrant, wholesome, welcome, charming comedy which holds enough of pathos to redeem it from vapidness and enough of sentiment to crush out the sentimental.

And the men and women who live out the village story! There is Jane Ellison, the mother, who knows but one way to go and goes it simply. There is Stuart Fox, a son, who learns life by hard knocks and who pledges to keep the Turn to the Right. There are his pals, Mike Donlin, known as "Muggs" whose real name might do for his stage appelation, and William Foran, who is master of the act of help yourself. Rita Ross, Slyvia Field, Maude Huntley and Zahrah are the young women who lend youth and something of beauty to the show. But one does not forget the Deacon, a delightful character study which Samuel Reed presents. Nor must the village rube whom New York welcomes as society leader, Sidney Henderson, be overlooked. No less worthy of mention, although their parts are incidental rather than necessary, are Leo Chalzel, Charles W. Goodrich, Stephen Singer and George Spelvin. Does one love simplicity and homeliness, and still keep faith with youth and joy then this company has not come to Oakland in vain. "Turn to the Right" will hold the boards at Ye Liberty playhouse the entire week, closing on Sunday night, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

A theater orchestra is seldom accorded mention or recognition. Yet Joseph Livingston and his musicians contribute a very real thing in heart throbs this week, reviving a medley of those old songs which are seldom given place in programs nowadays—Home, Sweet Home, Seeing Nellie Home, Annie Laurie, Listen to the Mocking Bird, and their kind, and offering later as a cornet solo "I Hear You Calling Me." These American folk songs if your will are significant of the motif of the play which they accompany.—E. B. K.

Plays and Players

TREE OF KNOWLEDGE PLEASES AT KINEMA.

"The Tree of Knowledge," an artistically produced society drama with an all-star cast, is the feature that opened to packed houses at the Kinema yesterday, where it will play all this week. The story is that of a man who has tasted of the fruit of the tree of knowledge and finds the past a barrier to his freedom of mind and happiness. Kathlyn Williams as the woman of the world who charms and then discards the men that come her way, gives an exceptionally strong portrayal that is effectively contrasted by the work of Wanda Hawley in the role of an unsophisticated little English girl. Tom Forman and Robert Warwick have the principal male roles and Irving Cummings appears as a light-hearted villain.

A beautiful prologue to the picture, based on the legend of Lillith, the beautiful demon-wife of Adam, who tempted him before the coming of Eve, is given by Theodore Kosloff and Yvonne Gardelle.

"Speak Easy," a Mack Sennett comedy in which Charlie Murray, Marie Prevost, Kalla Pasha and Eddie Gribbon appear, is shown. A sparkling stage novelty is offered as a special number.

TRILBY SCREEN FEATURE OF WEEK AT T. AND D.

"Trilby," the stage classic, with its humor and its heartaches; its shuddersome presence of Svengali; its Little Billee, Gecko and Taffy the Laird, is here—this time on the screen.

Clara Kimball Young is the beautiful Trilby at the T. and D. theater; Wilton Lackaye the Svengali. The stage classic was never given greater delineation than by the cast presenting it in pictures.

The story needs little review. The principal roles as portrayed by Clara Kimball Young and Lackaye need no recommendation.

A program rich in attractiveness is offered together with "Trilby," including a modernized prologue version of the play with five characters.

Baby Boynton, the five-year-old musical prodigy and organist, runs the gamut of the classics and the popular pieces with her nimble fingers. Frank Keenan appears in "The Silver Girl"; Marcelli's musicians offer another splendid musical program and incidental attractions also include a Chester Outing and T. and D. News Weekly.

Lloyd Carmichael makes his debut this week as a capable addition to the staff of the T. and D. organists.

THE RIGHT OF WAY IS OPENING AT AMERICA.

"The Right of Way" in motion picture form, an adaption of the novel by Sir Gilbert Parker, in which Bert Lytell portrays the leading role, opened yesterday at the American for one week. On the same bill is the Oliver Morosco stage success, "The Walk-Offs," by Frederick and Fanny Hatton, starring beautiful May Allison.

In "The Right of Way" Bert Lytell has one of the most difficult roles of his career, that of Charley Steele, the dashing young attorney of Montreal—cynical, dissolute, undeniably winning, yet astoundingly supercilious. Mr. Lytell portrays it adequately.

In "The Walk-offs" May Allison scores in one of the most delightful roles yet brought to the screen.

John Wharry Lewis has selected a score that is worth no little mention. As the 'Right of Way" is in seven reels, Edgar Bayliss at the organ has also arranged an exceptional program.

GILBERT, WELL AGAIN, BACK AT COLUMBIA

When Eddie Gilbert, Irish comedian at the Columbia Theater, stepped on the stage yesterday afternoon in "The Dancing Craze," the action of the show stopped and the favorite was forced to explain his absence for the last two weeks. Gilbert lost his voice on the stage two weeks ago and had been unable to speak above a whisper since.

The presence of the comedian brightened up the show to a great extent and made the work of extracting laughs much easier for Solly Carter, who portrayed his customary role of "Abey Cohen." Another to score was Ira Robertson, who portrayed an Italian count with skill, and another was Lillyan Mason, whose work as comedienne kept the house laughing continually. The straight roles were admirably played by Nat Wentworth, Ivy Darien, and Norma Leslie, the latter the sprightly little ingenue of the Columbia forces.

"The Dancing Craze" is one of the funniest shows to be presented at the Columbia in some weeks. The story revolves around the promise of Johnnie Riley (Nat Wentworth) to return from Europe with a celebrated count and a wonderful musician. Failing to get the bona fide articles, he selects "Pat Clancy," a traveling fiddler, and "Tony Chestnut," an Italian peddler, for the musician and the count.

Tomorrow evening will be the big Country Store, an alluring feature of which will be the free distribution of 500 pounds of pure cane sugar.

WELL BALANCED BILL OFFERED AT PANTAGES.

The Glasgow Maids, piloted by Jessie Blair Sterling, recent prima donna with Harry Lauder, proved a big hit with Sunday audiences at Pantages Theater. The Glasgow maids hail from the land of the heather. The sterling Caledonian character of this troupe, the striking costumes of the various clans, the rhythm of the dances and the stirring music of the pipes, linger in the memory of lovers of good entertainment.

Henry and Adelaide are singers and dancers. The scene is that of a store front with two people posing as models. They step down and out of the windows and do a song and dance. They make their changes from the display in the window. The man does a dance and makes a complete change while dancing from collar to shoes.

The Great Howard is an added attraction. Howard is a ventriloquist. His setting is that on an ambulance hospital in the trenches.

The Chung Hwa Four are four Chinese. They sing at first in Chinese, then do solos and quartet work in English.

The Four Casting Mellos offer a casting act, featuring a woman who assumes a difficult and dangerous role.

Fisk and Fallon do some talking, singing, instrumental work and comedy.

WALLACE REID PLAY FRANKLIN'S FEATURE.

Wallace Reid in another whirlwind automobile romance, "Double Speed," is delighting audiences at the Franklin Theater this week. He starts out with more than his usual amount of hard luck, for while traveling with all of the luxuries of the hardened auto tourist, he is robbed and left to wander in the desert, clad in pajamas. After obtaining more suitable clothing he begins life as a hobo, graduates to be a chauffeur and finds his own machine and a remarkably pretty girl simultaneously. At this point the action quickens to end with a twist and a bang and many surprises. Wanda Hawley, Theodore Roberts, and Tully Marshall are included in the supporting cast.

A comedy, a cartoon, and the usual news features are other program features.

Cheer, Novelty Features of Orpheum Bill

In the days before vaudeville was invented the world was not so full of a number of things. A man like young Hollis of the team of Kenney and Hollis at the Orpheum would have been locked up in an asylum or elected to the legislature before he would have been allowed to caper about so recklessly in full sight of the young folks. A gentleman in the sixth row yesterday laughed so loud that his wife was never so mortified in her whole life and there was a girl in the center third who repeated seventeen times that she honestly thought she would die. The team calls itself the "College Boys" and achieves its effect in the manner of putting over the jokes rather than in the quality of the witticisms.

A well-staged and pretentious tabloid, "The Little Cottage," concerns two audacious young men who spend the week-end in a cottage with twelve young women and of the unmodern, but not lasting, resentment of the fiancee of one. The discovery and resultant situation is admirably adjusted when the twelve, led by one of the men, dance a bit scornfully out into the wings and leave the lovers to their dreams. There are some stunning gowns and stunning girls and quite a bit of fun in the act.

Betty Caldwell, who appears with Dick Duffey in patter of lingerie design, is pretty and quaint and of the sort to establish an instant chumminess with the seat holders. Every one liked her.

Maria, a double source for wonder, as to how she managed the marvelous drape to her gown and how she squeezed such jazz, joy and melody out of an accordeon, was made to exercise the instrument and her arms for a full allotment of encores. Bradley and Ardine, who are accompanied by an unobtrusive pianist, J. Irving Fisher, dance quite violently in a harmonious and costly setting. As dancers they are most successful acrobats and for their cartwheels they are cheered.

Two parrots who say what is expected of them rather than those inapt and soda-biscuity remarks one is used to hearing, are put through their paces by "Lucile." "Cockie," with a voice like that of the horrible example in "Ten Nights in a Barroom," is almost uncanny and a wise old bird.

Pisano, a rifle-shot, who has been here before, uses a magnificent setting representing the banks of the Piave in the Alps. He is still the same expert who doesn't seem to know what it is to miss. The girl who assists him, while not mentioned on the program, is one of the best scenic effects on the bill.

The reliable trio, Kowalsky, Christie and Fox purvey melody, mirth and current history.—A. B. S.

Y. M. C. A. Will Hold "Fellowship Hour"

A "fellowship hour," 7:30 to 8:30 p. m., will be given by the Y. M. C. A. every Thursday evening, beginning this week. It will be open to all men and will be under the direction of Service Secretary Stinger.

The meeting will be social-religious, starting with a song session. A speaker will talk upon some live topic and informal discussion by the assemblage will follow.

Abraham Lincoln Pleases Fulton Theater Patrons

Fulton Players are profferng a big play at the New Fulton Playhouse this week. It is Ralph Thomas Kettering's "Abraham Lincoln," and there is a gratifying adequacy about the presentation, with Paul Harvey as Lincoln, and Nana Bryant and Cliff Thompson as the principals in a wholesome love story—two love stories, to be precise—supported by a capable cast.

Kettering's "Lincoln," called a romance of three generations, intentionally conveys the suggestion of reincarnation. That suggestion, sustained by the artistry of the actors, the staging and costuming and well chosen incidental music, achieves the result of linking the present with the crucial days when the war of sections divided the American states.

Miss Bryant is captivating, as the modern American girl and as the Virginia belle in hoopskirts and crinoline, fired with the southern spirit of Civil war times. Her power is manifest in every line and gesture, and there are times when she touches the emotional pinnacles with consummate art.

Fidelity to history has been adhered to religiously in the treatment of Lincoln, as a student of the Emancipator will discover instantly. Abraham Lincoln in the play delivers many of the sentiments for which the Lincoln of history is renowned; as the Lincoln of life and flesh undoubtedly uttered in ordinary conversations, for example, the thoughts that found public expression in the Gettsburg speech and in his second inaugural address. Just enough of the Lincoln humor is introduced to meet the requirements of the verities.

Paul Harvey is splendidly equipped in every way for a role that few actors can take without incurring the hazard of sacrilege. Harvey has the stature and bearing, and he readily assumes the drawl that one attributes to the historical Lincoln in relating droll stories or voicing some homely yet pungent bit of philosophy.

Merele Stanton as Mammy Daffy Summers, Lincoln's colored cook, and John Sheehan, as her son, Cyrus, quite captured Fulton audiences yesterday. Other parts are taken by Frank K. Wallace, as Edwin M. Stanton; Lea Penman, as Mrs. Lincoln; Hugh Knox, as General U. S. Grant; John Ivan, as the young John Hay, Lincoln's private secretary; Frank Darien, as Will Marshall, the Confederate spy; Maurice Redmond, as Senator Stevens, and Charles Caulkins, as the Bishop.—R. L. S.

TOM MIX DARING IN DRAMA AT BROADWAY.

Tom Mix's ability to furnish new stunts and thrills is apparently inexhaustible if his "Speed Maniac" at the Broadway theater today for the last time is an example.

Mix is an indefatigable worker through seven reels of action—actions that embrace a big automobile race and wreck, the rescue of the heroine from a runaway tally-ho and his part in a prize fight. Eve Novak is the heroine of "The Speed Maniac," whom Mix carries through the action with a never-failing pace. The feature is easily the liveliest Mix has appeared in.

"Calling His Bluff," a comedy that strikes the superlative in humor, is also on the program.

Tomorrow Dorothy Dalton will be seen in "A Gamble in Souls" and the farce, "Fair and Warmer" will make up a doubly attractive program.

Children Assist in Near East Relief

More than enough money to adopt one orphan was raised in the audience at the Clawson school last Friday, when a popular program was given. Reports of progress show that Mrs. C. H. Gorrill has adopted three orphans; Mrs. Louis Ghiradelli, one; Beulah Heights chapel, one; Jackson Furniture Company, one; Dr. Eva L. Harris, one; Piedmont Union church, two more, making a total of five; First Christian church, six, and two unknowns, one each, making a total of 151 orphans adopted in this city to date. Intermediate school No. 1, Twelfth avenue and East Nineteenth street, brought its total to $380, with the recent gift of $115 additional.

Becoming president of the Miners' Union there, he went into politics and was identified with the campaign of Franklin K. Lane in 1902. Turning to newspaper work, he was employed on the Nevada City Transcript and later worked in Sacramento and San Francisco.

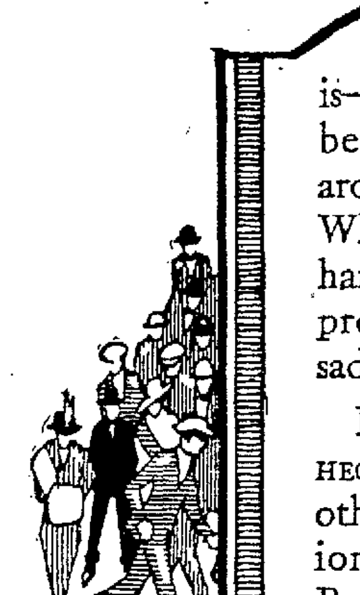
BUCKHECHT SHOES

You can't see the "counter" —but it's there



You know what the "counter" is—the stiffening "collar" in your shoe between the outside and the lining, around the sides and back of your heel. When it's wrong—when it presses too hard it can cause more misery than the proverbial "burr under a broncho's saddle."

It's the way the counter of a BUCKHECHT Shoe is built in—the way every other part of a BUCKHECHT Shoe is fashioned and put together—that makes BUCKHECHT Shoes keep their good looks, at the same time giving the wearer's foot, from heel to toe, all the room it needs. The very things sensible men want in shoes—in looks, wear and comfort, are built right into them.

From the "try-on" in the shop to the last day of service a BUCKHECHT Shoe gives its wearer what the makers promise—

"Extra service every step, Comfort every minute."

There's a BUCKHECHT Shoe style for your particular type of foot. Principal shoe-dealers in the West sell them in a variety of leathers—$8 to $12.

Shortage of Teachers is Educator's Theme

CLEVELAND, Feb. 23.—More than 3000 delegates have registered to attend the semi-centennial meeting of the department of superintendence of the National Education association and fifty other policy-determining bodies of the educational field from all parts of the country. Approximately 8000 delegates are expected to be on hand when the first meeting of the department of superintendence opens Tuesday morning.

The problem of finding approximately 56,000 well-trained teachers to take positions either vacant or filled with incompetents now, according to prominent educators, and the question of a minimum salary schedule of $1200 per annum for beginners and a maximum of $2100 for the 600,000 elementary school teachers of the country now receiving $630 per annum, according to the report of the bureau of education, will be the paramount topics before the convention.

FURTHER REVELATIONS OF A WIFE.

FURTHER REVELATIONS OF A WIFE.

Do you want to come along with me while I lay some traps and put out some night lines?"

Lillian spoke gayly as we rose from the table at Brouquin's after our "shopping lunch."

"Anywhere," I returned, not quite understanding the word symbols she was using, but contentedly sure that she would explain them in her own good time.

"Good girl!" she said smiling, and chatted of other things until we had walked perhaps a half-mile along a cross street.

"We turn here," she said, and in another moment we were entering a venerable second-hand book shop.

"Have you found anybody yet who will fall for that book of old prints?" she demanded insouciantly of the middle-aged man who came forward to meet us, and who greeted Lillian with the respect due a valued customer, for such I felt sure she was.

"Many who wish it. none who will pay its price," the man rejoined.

"Nor would you have roped me in," she retorted, "only I have a special use for it. So, I fall. Let me have another look at it, then pack it up and send it over, will you please?"

"With pleasure," the man replied, bowing, "if you will please be seated."

He drew chairs for us, and soon laid before us a large, heavy, old volume of marvelous costume prints, which Lillian looked at with critical eyes, while I openly and wonderingly admired, for I had never seen anything quite like it before.

"Very well," Lillian gave her final decision. "Send it up right away. You know the address."

She laid a bill of large denomination in the man's hand, and turning, made her way out of the shop, I following close behind her.

"The old robber!" she said. "He probably picked up that thing for 50 cents. I've wanted it for a long time, but I couldn't square it with my conscience to pay his price. But there are things in it I've never seen anywhere else, and I don't want to overlook any bets when it comes to planning for Rita's racket."

"You're going to far too much trouble for me, Lillian," I began, but she turned on me impatiently.

"I'm having the time of my life," she said. "Besides, I'm mighty glad to have something like this to take my mind off things."

Her insouciant mask lifted for an instant, and I had a glimpse of haggard lines, of tortured eyes. Then eyes and features again became animated.

"Come on," she said. "You'll think you've been in Bagdad by the time the afternoon's over."

Long before she reached the end of her quest I agreed with her boast. For I trailed wonderingly after her as she threaded her way through picturesque old shops displaying barbaric necklaces and ornaments carved from the stones and materials not counted good enough to be called "gems," yet near in relationship to their more favored sisters. Lillian looked at the best of them with an appraising eye, and I couldn't help but hear an arrangement she made with one shopkeeper that he should lend her for a consideration, anything in the shop that she wanted for the night of the party.

BETTY HAS NEWS.

She made similar arrangements in other shops where lengths of beautiful oriental brocades and laces and veilings were displayed, and in still others — museum-like structures holding treasures of old silver and copper—while I bewilderedly gave up trying to follow the kaleidoscopic evolutions of her fancy.

"There!" she stopped abruptly outside the door of a particularly dusty antique shop. "Talk about preparedness! I've got enough ideas in my grab bag of a brain so I can match that woman at any point. Now for home! I'm tired to death, and I know you must be. I feel mushy and dusty. We'll go to the nearest taxi stand, be whisked home in a jiffy, get this dust off and have a good cup of tea before you have to take your train."

We were both more tired than we knew, and we uttered nothing but the most necessary words until we were cosily settled in the library with Lillian's beautiful tea service before us. Betty, who had brought up the tray, hovered near us, with a manner that seemed to betoken uneasiness. Lillian must have noticed it also, for she spoke to the woman brusquely but kindly.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG
It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 25c.

Of Utmost Importance
Pure, emulsified cod-liver oil is not medicine as many are prone to think of medicine.

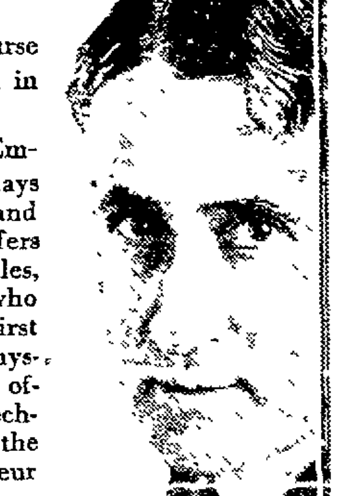
Experts to Teach Tribune Readers Scenario Writing



JOHN EMERSON

Free criticism of your moving picture scenarios by the most eminent scenarists in the profession!

This is made possible through the course in photoplay writing which will begin in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

By special arrangement with John Emerson and Anita Loos, writers of the plays of Norma and Constance Talmadge and other famous stars, The TRIBUNE offers to its readers a valuable series of articles, affording a rare opportunity to those who want to write photoplays. It is the first time that such an exposition of the mysteries of movie play making has been offered to the public. The series is not technical; it is an interesting account of the ups and downs in the career of amateur scenario writers: the obstacles they face, and how these obstacles are overcome. It covers photoplay writing completely from the initial hunt for a plot to the final marketing of the story. All this and more is explained by the premier scenarists of the day.

Mr. Emerson and Miss Loos have agreed to personally answer your questions about photoplay writing and to criticize plots submitted by readers of The TRIBUNE. Amateurs wanting advice will be answered in these columns by Mr. Emerson and Miss Loos, if they send their questions to the Motion Picture Editor of this paper. Questions should be sent one at a time and must be confined to photoplay writing. Motion picture plots of not more than 300 words will be read and criticized by Mr. Emerson and Miss Loos if you will send your plot to the Motion Picture Editor of The TRIBUNE with a self-addressed, stamped envelope. The plot will be forwarded to Mr. Emerson and Miss Loos, who will read it and return it direct to you. Their criticism of the plot will be sent to The TRIBUNE for publication in its columns. Your name will not be mentioned unless you so desire. Initials only will be used to identify each question and plot criticism. The first installment of the Emerson-Loos series will appear in The TRIBUNE for February 29. Watch for it.

Mills College Plans First Service School for Alumnae

Oakland alumnae of Mills College are interested in the first service school to be held next Friday, Saturday and Sunday for the benefit of former Mills students. Trustees and students are joining to make this the most memorable gathering of former Mills students ever held.

Although it was not planned as a welcome for President Reinhardt, who returns from the East Thursday, it will combine a greeting for her as well as the visitors from all parts of California and many distant points.

Former students at Mills will register Friday morning just as they did when undergraduates in former years, and at 2 o'clock in Alumnae hall the first program will be offered. Miss Ethel Moore, a graduate of Mills and of Vassar, will speak on "The American College—A National Obligation." Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, president of Mills College, will speak on "What Other Colleges Are Doing."

GRADUATES TO SPEAK.

Mrs. William Palmer Lucas of Smith College will discuss "The Relation of the Alumnae to the College," and Miss Rosalind Keep, a graduate of Mills and University of California, will give a map talk on "Mills Alumnae, Who They Are and Where They Are." Discussion will be led by Miss Janet Haight.

At 4 o'clock the former Mills students will inspect the physical education department and will be given a demonstration by the students at the gymnasium and Lake Aliso. They will be led by Miss Elizabeth R. Stoner, head of physical education department. At this time the champion athletes of Mills will give exhibitions.

A dinner to the trustees will be given at 6:30 Friday evening in Warren Olney Hall at which the toast, "The College Spirit," will be offered by the Right Reverend Lamb Parsons, Bishop Coadjutor of California. At 7:45 a reception to the College faculty will be given in Olney Hall and at 8:15 Walter D. Cole, president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, will speak in Alumnae Hall on the subject "Mills and the City of Oakland." Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt will discuss "Mills College in the Educational World." At 9:30 the Washington Birthday ball, in which the 430 students will appear in Colonial costumes, will be given in Lisser Hall.

SATURDAY SESSION.

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, a tour of the campus will acquaint alumnae with conditions. At the 12:30 luncheon Miss Lucile Ernst, president of the student body, will speak on "Student Government" and the heads of the residence homes will discuss "House Regulations."

Mrs. Ben Allen of Sacramento, Miss Doris Alexander of St. Helena and Miss Elizabeth Steinbeck of Oakland will speak on "Selling the Mills College Idea." Other details of the program are being added to make the three days full of interest to returning alumnae.

The trustees at Mills College who will attend the meetings are:

Warren Olney Sr., George C. Edwards, Mrs. Frank M. Smith, Miss Janet C. Haight, Mrs. Alexander Morrison, Joseph F. Carlston, Miss Ethel More, Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, Mrs. Edward C. Wright, Walter Dillingham, Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, Wiggington E. Creed, William F. Bade, Edward L. Parsons, Francis J. Van Horn, Joseph R. Knowland, I. W. Hellman Jr. and William I. Brobeck.

Man Taking Bath, Robbed of Clothes

While O. M. Ford, 823 Washington street, was performing his Saturday night rites in the bathroom at his rooming house, a burglar walked off with all his clothes. Ford had to send a messenger to report his loss to the police.

Jewelry and clothes valued at $500 were stolen from C. F. Petris, 421 Carrington street while Petris attended the theater.

P. W. Brown of 2184 Grove street told the police that a man who had been working about the house disappeared simultaneously yesterday with a pearl necklace, the property of his wife, and $15 in currency.

Structural Foreman is Burglar Suspect

Frank Sylvester, a structural foreman, is in the city jail, accused of the burglary of the Compass bar, 589 Twelfth street.

Special Officer Burns says he noticed Sylvester prowling within the saloon yesterday morning. He blew his whistle and was joined by Sergeant W. E. Brock and Policeman Canning, and all three set out after Sylvester, who jumped out of a rear window and ran. After a chase of several blocks they surrounded him in a vacant lot at Eleventh and Franklin streets. Sylvester offered no explanation.

President of Lions' Club to Speak Here

Jesse Robinson, the international president of the Lions' Club, will make an address February 26 at the luncheon of the Berkeley organization at the Hotel Whitecotton on the formation and purposes of the Lions' dens.

Oakland Den has been invited to attend the meeting to hear the international head who has come here from the East.

Vice-President H. W. Brunk, in making the announcement of the visit of President Robinson, has extended an invitation to neighboring dens to attend the luncheon.

A Reliable Cough Medicine.
"I have given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to my five children on occasion without number for the past fifteen years. It is the only remedy I could rely upon to cure coughs and colds and for croup it has no equal. The children take it willingly," writes Mrs. C. O. Nesbit, Vandergrift, Pa. Mother and Daughter Banquet Plans Read

Preparations for the "mother and daughter" banquet at the Y. W. C. A. February 24 for which scores of women and girls have already made reservations, have been almost completed with the arrangement for an orchestra to play during the supper.

After the supper, which will be featured by appropriate toasts, the group will adjourn to the gymnasium to watch the advanced gym classes and basketball games. Miss Margaret Pierson is now receiving reservations at the Y. W. C. A.

Among the toasts to be given are: "What Attracts Me to the Association," by several girls; "What Mother Means to Me," by Miss Alice Burton; "What Daughter Means to Me," by Mrs. F. A. Allardt. Mrs. Allardt will be toastmistress.

Army Retail Store Will Continue Here

Oakland's United States army retail store in the basement of the city hall which has been selling meats, clothing and other foods, will continue in operation for at least three or four months and perhaps longer in the opinion of Captain Raymond Boyd, officer in charge.

Orders recently issued by the War Department suspending the mail order section of the Quartermaster store at Red Cross building in the San Francisco civic center does not affect this city at all according to Captain Boyd, who says there is no mail order section here. The San Francisco mail order section of the army store will accept orders by mail only up to and including February 28 on account of the depleted stock of surplus supplies.

FIGHT ENDS OVER RAISE IN ALIMONY

The battle between Mrs. Annie W. Aikin and her former husband, Dr. Ilo R. Aikin, as to whether the latter can afford to give the former $150 a month additional as alimony or whether the expense of maintaining his present wife and home leaves him without surplus funds is ended.

Superior Judge Edward C. Robinson has dismissed the action of Mrs. Aiken to increase the alimony payment from $100 a month to $250, on motion of Attorney R. M. Fitzgerald. Mrs. Aikin claimed the increased cost of living made it impossible for her to rear her two children in the proper manner on her present income.

Judge Harry W. Pulcifer, representing Dr. Aikin, showed that the doctor turned over to his wife her home at 473 Haddon road, besides giving her $100 a month regularly as alimony, and that she earns about $100 a month from renting rooms in her home.

Dr. Aikin charged that his former wife had been circulating false and slanderous reports concerning him and advising people not to employ him as a physician. He said her desire to entertain elaborately and live in luxurious fashion was responsible for her attempt to get more alimony. He declared that after his own living and office expenses were paid he had only $80 a month left with which to pay the $100 a month due his former wife.

Judge Robinson suggested that Attorneys Fitzgerald and Judge Pulcifer together examine Dr. Aikin's accounts and determine his exact financial condition, continuing the case for that purpose. After doing so it was agreed to dismiss the litigation.

Skin Eruptions Cause Unbearable Itching

Scratching Increases the Irritation of the Delicate Skin Tissue.

You can claw your nails into your skin until it bleeds, in an effort to obtain relief from the fiery itching and burning caused by skin diseases, but you only increase the irritation and pain

And you can pour ointments, salves and lotions by the gallon on the irritated parts, without obtaining anything but temporary relief. Just as soon as the strength of the counter irritant gives out, your pain and torture will return with increased violence, because these local remedies have not reached the source of the trouble.

The real source of all skin disease is the blood supply. The blood becomes infected with some impurity, and the disease germs break out through the delicate tissues of the skin. They may appear as eczema, tetter, boils, pimples, scaly eruptions, caused by disease germs in the blood.

The real cure, therefore, must be directed through the blood. And no remedy has yet been discovered that equals S. S. S. for such disorder of the blood This great old remedy cleanses the blood of disease germs, and clears up the complexion and gives it the ruddy glow of perfect health. Million 'Too Many' Women In England Statement Stirs Wrath of Fair Sex

By FLOYD MACGRIF,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—A statement by Dr. R. Murray Leslie that England has 1,000,000 "too many" women and that something ought to be done about it, has aroused angry and resentful comment among the prominent feminists. They declare that the modern woman, with her diversified interests, is not a husband hunter and that no alarm need be felt over the fact that there are no male mates for one million British women.

Radical views on the subject were expressed today by Miss Norah Marsh, editor of "National Health," and an authority on eugenics. She contends that a new social and moral code is growing up which will solve the question.

PARENTHOOD AMONG FIT SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED

"The important thing to consider is whether, with one million unmarried women, England can maintain her population at its natural state of increase," she said. "We want parenthood encouraged only among the fit. A large number of these surplus women, from a physical and mental standpoint, would make admirable mothers We are now in a state of transition and our whole moral code is under review. It may be that the day will come when a new social code will help us solve the problems of these surplus women."

"For forty years feminists have declared that marriage ought not to be the whole end of existence for women," said Miss Underwood, secretary of the Women's Federation League. "Now, in view of women's wider interests they only look upon marriage as a minor incident in their lives Present day marriages are not attractive to many women.

-,..f)Efmhi:p| Qfrnf'

"It is not the want of opportunity for marriage which makes a woman discontented, but her unequal economic position compared with that of men. When she secures equality with men professionally and industrially and in every other direction, you will not have any discontented women. A well developed woman needs activity, not protection."

DOESN'T LOOK FOR ANY GRAND HUSBAND HUNT

Miss Lillian Barker, woman's organizer, said:

"There is a type of woman who is not anxious to get married. I do not look for any grand 'husband hunt.'"

"Some of the finest public and social work of modern times is being done by women who are not wives, and thousands of unmarried women are rendering high service to their nation by their useful lives," said Miss Beatrice Harraden, author of "Ships That Pass in the Night."

It is contended that war improved the type of women in the British Isles and many persons interested in the matter are opposing emigration of British girls. Among them is the Marchioness of Townsend, who said:

"A far better way than emigration would be to attract the girls to the countryside, where they would not all be herded together in towns. They could live better lives. But the men, too, must be attracted to the country and happiness and domesticity made possible in the villages Really, the root of the evil is there is not enough real love in the world, in the sense of the real Darby and Joan romance. Family life is the backbone of the nation and it is to this ideal we must aim."

Dr. Leslie has suggested morals of the girls than those of their grandmothers. This charge brought a vigorous response from Mrs. Pember Reeves, well known author, who said

"I do not believe that girls today are any worse than their grandmothers were. To ship them wholesale to the colonies would be absurd. Better drown the girls if they are such a menace and such a nuisance."

Woman Ends Life on Ship After Quarrel With Husband

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23—Following a quarrel with her husband because he had been drinking, Mrs. Herbert R. Baby, pretty twenty-year-old wife of H. R. Baby, automobile dealer of Bellingham, Wash, committed suicide yesterday noon in her stateroom on board the Admiral line steamer Governor when the vessel was off Point Arena.

The Babys were on their way from Seattle to Los Angeles, where Baby was going to enter the automobile business. Before luncheon yesterday Baby is said to have taken several drinks and quarreled with his wife. She locked the door to their stateroom and opened the window halfway to talk to him.

After quarreling for several minutes, Mrs. Baby said, "Well, I'll end it all now," and then she reached into her husband's suit case, seized a revolver and fired one shot into her heart, falling back in a sitting position on the settee in the cabin.

GERMANS CLAIM WAR VICTORY SAYS LETTER.

"The Germans are convinced that, despite the military victory on the part of the allies, they won the war, for they are remaking their world while their sympathizers are hoping to throw the rest of the earth into disorder. The nations which presented a united front in war must present a united front in peace."

This, in essence, is the message which Lieutenant Coningsby Dawson, famous author and traveler, brings to the people of San Francisco Lieutenant Dawson arrived yesterday.

Lieutenant Dawson is widely known for his war stories, which have appeared in leading American magazines, and for study of European economic and social conditions since the end of the fighting. The lieutenant said:

"In Germany, while conceding the war lost in a military way, the inhabitants are certain that it was won economically and socially. They point to the smoking German factories and to the industrial contention in the allied world, contrasting them and asserting that Germany will eventually gain that which brought her to spring at the world—trade dominance.

MAN SWEPT FROM ROCK BY WAVE IS DROWNED

L. V. Floan, 55 years old, a carpenter, living at Mill Valley, was drowned yesterday when he was swept from a rock into the ocean by a large wave while fishing off the coast at Montaro, in San Mateo county Charles Holmgren, 721 San Bruno avenue, who was with Floan, witnessed the drowning.

High School Enrollment This Year Breaks Record

Enough new pupils to form another high school as big as Oakland High, or a total of 1044, have been enrolled in the high schools of this city, according to figures compiled by Fred M. Hunter, superintendent of schools.

Not only have the regular high school classes been increased by this number, but the evening high schools have shown a still more wonderful enrollment with 1800 more students than last year.

Although in the past eight years before the increase of high school pupils has been but 271, the increase for 1919 was 500, and for this season 1044 showing an abnormal attendance which is taxing the building and teaching capacities of the institutions.

Greater prosperity, a greater desire for education and uplift and the increase in the population all are held responsible for the immense addition to the [illegible] school attendance.

The addition to the curriculum of many practical business, technical, mechanical and household subjects has also been responsible for hundreds of pupils who drop out on the completion of the eighth grade continuing their work into the high schools

So great has been the demand on the evening schools for practical courses to educate youths and girls in trades and professions that Superintendent Hunter has recogned the necessity for continuing the policy of the board of education in stopping all evening work where the classes fall below the requirements in attendance and grades, and reducing non-essentials to the minimum.

The total enrollment in the Oakland high last year was but 813 With more new students than this total coming in, the problem of housing and teaching has become a pertinent and serious one.

POLICE TRACING SHOOTING PUZZLE

The police are endeavoring to solve the mystery of a shooting affray which occurred at 1.55 a m at Wesley and Excelsior avenues, in which a couple dozen shots were fired by the unidentified participants in the affair, and several shots were sent after a fleeing automobile by Patrolman Benjamin Godkin. The men responsible for the shooting escaped in the car, which dashed away at high speed when Godkin approached.

The police were first notified by a telephone call from S. Riskin, 675 Wesley avenue, who said a violent quarrel betwen a number of men was in progress within hearing distance of the Riskin home. The Central police station immediately notified Godkin who patrols the streets in that vicinity

When he was within two blocks of the men at the corner of Wesley and Excelsior avenues he heard voices in violent altercation, and then a series of shots rang out. At that moment one of the men saw the policeman running toward them and the entire crowd leaped into the automobile.

A careful examination of the spot where the shooting occurred was made this morning, but no signs of blood were found

POLK WANTS SHOW REPLICA IN MARBLE

By J. H. HOULIHAN.

The thousands who have visited the fourth annual Pacific Auto Show at the Auditorium apparently agree with Willis Polk, San Francisco architect, who declared yesterday that the entire decorative scheme should be perpetuated in enduring marble. The stage setting, which brings the 1920 motor productions to the great "out-of-doors" and to California's scenic wonderlands, especially is declared on all sides the greatest decorative achievement since the Exposition.

Polk, in company with art critics and architectral authorities, yesterday viewed the great Grecian temple constructed inside the Auditorium, and the following statement issued by Polk may start a movement for the reproduction of the scheme to stand with time.

"Architecturally, the stage setting for the Auto Show is of itself deserving of perpetuation in enduring marble.

"The panoramas of California's scenic wonders alone are worth countless thousands of dollars to California enterprises and industries. The great temple through which the spectator views these panoramas—the work of Clarence Ward and J Harvey Blohme—is so well conceived in scale and detail, so in consonance with the grandeur of California's landscape, mountain and valley, that they are entitled to special praise.

DEALERS ARE PRAISED

"The Motor Car Dealers' Association of San Francisco is deserving of the very highest compliments for the artistic and attractive setting that has been installed in the Civic Auditorium. All credit to the association and to Mr. Wahlgreen, the show manager."

Regardless of rumors current Saturday afternoon that the motor exposition would not be completed in time for the Saturday night opening, thousands attended on the first night, breaking all previous first show records. Thousands of out-of-town visitors who motored in from far and distant points attended yesterday. Hotels are crowded today with Auto Show visitors.

The diversity of mechanical exhibits this year, added to the elegant post-war models in passenger cars, and the educational features in connection with truck and tractor development offer attractions of interest to all. For the mechanical student there are many examples of advanced engineering that have come as a result of war experience, and there are factory experts, who served as government experts during the war, on hand for practical applications of the latest motor theories.

Insurance figures compiled in Manager Wahlgreen's office show that there was more than $1,000,000 worth of exhibits under the dome of the Grecian temple when the show opened its doors. The feature cars exhibited in the New York and Chicago shows reached the Auditorium in excellent shape in time for the opening.

42 SHOW 1920 MODELS

Of the 166 exhibitors, 42 are showing the 1920 models of 60 makes of cars on the main floor, 44 dealers are showing the last word in trucks and tractors in the basement, and 60 distributers are showing every kind of motor accessory known on the second floor.

Among the interesting show sights which are attracting attention is the original racing car—"999"—built by Henry Ford before he became a builder of cars for sale, and which was driven by Barney Oldfield in his first race. This car established Oldfield's fame as a race driver when he was 22 years old, and convinced Henry Ford that he knew enough about the automobile industry to engage in it. This was eighteen years ago.

Until three months ago "999" was lost and forgotten by all except Ford and Oldfield, both of whom were anxious to find the relic. Then Wm. L. Hughson, president of the Motor Car Dealers' Association, found the car in a Los Angeles junk yard, and it is now his only exhibit in the show

During the remainder of the week the Auditorium doors will open at noon and will close at 10.30 p m. Thursday night will be "Society Night." Friday has been designated as "Save the Redwoods Day" for a conference of prominent Californians to launch a campaign to set aside some of the best redwood tracts as national parks

News of the Churches

Many Oakland or Eastbay congregations heard appropriate patriotic airs from the choirs of the various churches, or listened to sermons preached about Washington yesterday. The young people throughout the city in various Leagues or Endeavor Societies studied a topic with Washington and his ideals featured, and several church schools offered a special program or a good talk on "The Father of Our Country."

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"Burying the Hatchet," was the appropriate title of a sermon preached by Rev. H. A. Van Winkle pastor of the First Christian church, to feature "Washington Sunday." He based his sermon on the text, "This one thing will I do, forgetting the things that are past and stretching forward." Dr. Van Winkle said in part: "Forget the past but not the good things. We should have the ability to select from history the things that will benefit us and keep them as a prayer. Washington was 'first in peace first in war, and first in the hearts of his countrymen.' This is what all Americans should be, applying these principles to our own lives. Christianity is the most vital factor in Americanism, and it is time to bury the war hatchet and for all nations to get back to a peace basis, ready to help the needy peoples of the world."

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL

Following a group of patriotic songs and special solos by the choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church, under the direction of Bessie Beatty Roland, the pastor, Dr. John Stephens, preached a sermon on the subject, "The World's Debt to Washington." Bringing in the thought of the hundreds upon hundreds of people who had gone through life better for having known Washington, Dr. Stephens developed his theme on what the memory and ideals of this great and good man would do to the coming generations. Throughout the sermon Dr. Stephens paid touching tribute to Washington's beautiful spiritual life.

FIRST UNITARIAN CHURCH

Rev. Clarence Reed in his sermon on "Washington the Prophet of Americanism" yesterday at First Unitarian church said in part:

"What is the goal of America? There is a tendency at the present time to define our destiny in material terms. We may gain the trade of the world and possess the greatest amount of material wealth of any country, and yet in a few years become a corrupt decadent nation. Our goal is to realize certain great political ideals and to offer them to the nations of the world. We believe free men are capable of governing themselves and that a government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed. We stand for a conception of life which appreciates the dignity of man and values greatness in term of social service. We wish to establish an international court for the just settlement of disputes between nations. We have unbounded confidence in the worth of universal education from the primary grades to the university and in the broadest religious toleration

"There has been a tendency in the past for nations to symbolize their ideals. The American ideal cannot be expressed in a tomb temple road or cathedral It cannot be adequately symbolized in any external form It may be seen in the happy homes of free people in a great plant where thousands of men are working on a large ship, in the public schools where boys and girls are being taught to think for themselves and plan to go forth to be of service to mankind, in a public library containing the treasured wisdom of the ages, in churches of various denominations where men and women are inspired to have reverence for the Highest and to express goodness, truth and the beautiful in all the relations of life, and in courts of law and halls of legislation where justice and liberty are being realized.

TENTH AVENUE BAPTIST.

The Tenth Avenue Baptist church of which the Rev. G. W. Phillips is the pastor, featured yesterday's services with a lecture-sermon by Prof. Earle G. Lindsley of Mills college entitled "All Americans." Prof. Lindsley dealt with the non-English speaking people resident in the United States, and cited history beginning with the American Indians. A quotation from Secretary Franklin K. Lane, "America is a spirit, an attitude of mind toward social and political conditions," was used by the speaker to illustrate his talk.

FIRS PRESBYTERIAN.

"What is the market price of souls?" was the subject of Rev Frank M. Silsley's sermon at the First Presbyterian church last night. Rev. Silsley declared:

"Our spiritual souls are of paramount value yet they are held as the cheapest commodity in life today Esau sold his birthright for a mess of pottage, and there are those today who are willing to dispose of their birthright for hardly a square meal Multitudes are selling their souls for fun They care more about the thrills of a vampire play than they do of communion with the highest and noblest ideals of life

"They sell their souls for the excitement and gain of a sporting life Many a man is unconsciously losing his soul by a determination to succeed by hook or crook. And there are those who are selling their souls for political success Statesmen generally are not like George Washington. Living in a day when the call is loudest for great spiritually minded statesmen we have a famine as to leaders They are selling their birthrights for personal and partisan ambitions and a great number are putting their spiritual birthrights in peril by trifling with mere 'isms.' No man's birthright is secure today unless he repents of his folly and accepts Christ as a Lord and redeemer. We need to advance the market price of souls and declare that a soul is of more value than the whole world of fun, sports or stocks and bonds."

DR. IRVIN S. CHAPMAN.

Church goers of Oakland are well acquainted with Dr. Irvin S. Chapman who has been preaching at various churches recently and especially on Lincoln, whom he knew personally. Many of the interesting stories have never been chronicled before Yesterday at the morning service at the First Christian church, Dr. Chapman preached the sermon about Abraham Lincoln, saying among other remarks: "In Abraham Lincoln's second inaugural address which lasted six minutes, he used 702 words and 266 of these were from the Bible. Lincoln had faith in the Bible, in God, in Jesus, Christ, and in prayer. After the battle of Gettysburg Mr. Lincoln went to see General Sickels, who was in the hospital wounded. The general asked Lincoln if he had not been afraid during the raging of the battle, and Lincoln replied, 'In the pinch of the battle I went to my room, locked the door, got on my knees and prayed to the Almighty God for the victory of Gettysburg.' Lincoln made a solemn vow that if God would stand by the boys in the battle, he would stand by God afterwards. Lincoln did."

CONFERENCE CALLED.

An efficiency conference of the children's division of Alameda county will be held with the Oakland Graded Union at the Y. M. C. A. at 2 o'clock Thursday. The program will be under the supervision of Mrs. Thesla Schultz, county elementary superintendent, who will instruct those present in the use of the new working manual for Sunday school association officers and committees. Part of the hour will be spent in discussion of and preparations for the observance of Children's Week (April 25—May 2). The purpose of the observance of this week is to put new life and strength into the program of the Sunday school and to bring home to parents the vital importance of religious education and instruction in the lives of their children. The teachers' training class, under the leadership of Rev. L. B. Thomas, will heartily welcome these busy Sunday school people and invites them to remain for the class. All who possibly can be present are urged to attend this conference.

L. A. SPEEDWAY RACE DELAYED

By CAPT. A. G. WADDELL

(Special to The TRIBUNE)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—Continued rain again caused the postponement of the opening race on the Los Angeles speedway, this time until Saturday, February 28 Hundreds of racing fans from all over the west had gathered here to witness the initial speed classic on the Beverly Hills oval.

A number of drivers faced the starter's flag Sunday to complete the elimination speed tests under which ruling only the fastest cars are permitted to compete. Among those who failed to qualify were Eddie O'Donnell, one of the favorites in the big classic. Unless a mishap occurs to one of the present contestants, O'Donnell will be among the missing next Saturday.

There are twenty entrants but only eighteen cars will be allowed to face starter Frank Lowry

SATURDAY TAKES TURN

Late Friday afternoon it was announced that the contest had been postponed until Monday on account of rain. Had the race been held Saturday the conditions would have been ideal for speed. By noon the sky had cleared and there was not a breath of wind to interfere with the pace set by the drivers of the fast cars.

The postponement of the race was a keen disappointment to many, especially those who had come from a great distance. Large numbers of these visitors have canceled their reservations and have hurried away. The majority of the departing visitors are men who are hurrying north to attend the Pacific auto show.

Oakland was well represented at the speedway Saturday. R. C. Durant was on hand with his mechanic, Fred Comer; but the pair were not in racing togs. The Chevrolet is ready for the starter's flag and locked up. Durant and Comer spent the afternoon timing other drivers and making notes for the speed battle. With Durant was George Walker of Oakland, Harry T. McKnight, R. C. Bridge and Police Commissioner Andy Mahony of San Francisco Mahony rode around the course better than 100 miles per hour in the fast Duesenberg driven by Tommy Milton.

MANY DRIVERS PRESENT

There were a number of former speed kings at the track including Teddy Tetzlaff, Bill Ruess, Capt. Grover Ruckstell of Oakland and Earl Cooper of San Francisco.

Cooper has definitely retired and his famous Stutz is now driven by his former mechanic, Reeve Dutton.

Eddie Pullen of Oakland, who was to have driven Cliff Durant's new 183 cubic inch Chevrolet, was on hand as a spectator. The car could not be completed in time so Pullen was released by Durant and will drive the Richards Special.

PLAN FOR LABOR PARTY FLAYED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Formation of a political labor party would be "detrimental to the interests of labor and exactly in line with that which is most ardently desired by those who seek to oppress labor," Samuel Gompers declared in a letter to William Mitch of Terra Haute, a leader of the Indiana State Labor party, just made public here.

Gompers wrote in reply to a telegram from Mitch and his associates supporting the action of the Indiana State Labor party in opposing the political declaration of the American Federation of Labor calling on organized workingmen to elect their friends and defeat their enemies.

Mitch's telegram declared in favor of making the fight solely through a labor party.

Gompers' letter says

"By what right do you assume to declare the work and the policy of the American Federation of Labor to be impractical? Surely the results achieved in the interests of the workers demonstrate the utter fallacy of your assumption.

"By your declaration you assert the practicality of the course you declare you will pursue. What experience have you had with your political party upon which to base so absurd a claim?

"Of this one thing you may rest assured, that the day of reckoning is at hand for all of those who are in antagonism to the cause of labor, and for those who are subtle and equally guilty, even though they clothe their actions in the robes of pretended friendship.

"When you shall have learned the lesson of the real struggle of labor and the cause for which our movement stands, you may become penitent for the gross injustice you have done by your pretension and your course.

"The effect of a separate political labor party can only be disastrous to the wage earners of our country and to the interests of all forward-looking people. The votes that would go to a labor party candidate would, in the absence of such candidate, go to the best man in the field. In no case would they go to an enemy of labor.

"There can be no hope for success of labor party candidates The effect, therefore, of a political labor party will be to defeat our friends and to elect our enemies.

"Labor can look upon the formation of a political labor party only as an act detrimental to the interests of labor and exactly in line with that which is most ardently desired by those who seek to oppose labor.

Dr. E. A. Omsby took them to the hospital

Police Inspector Wood smashed his automobile when it crossed the sidewalk and crashed through a fence at Seventh and Chestnut streets. He was carrying young Hoskin to the Receiving hospital when the machine skidded as he tried to avoid hitting a street car.

CRASH INJURES SIX.

GILROY, Feb. 23.—Two automobiles were smashed and the occupants, six in all, injured in a head-on collision on the highway near San Martin Saturday afternoon. Mr and Mrs. C. M. Turney of Rio Grande were traveling north in a roadster, while the other car, owned by Mr. G. G. Lynn of Oakland, and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lynn, Mrs. W. D. Bendor and little son Earl, also of Oakland, were traveling south. Lynn was following a truck and in attempting to pass, came upon the other car, driven by Turney. The latter drove into the ditch to avoid the collision, but the driver of the touring car in the confusion, ran into the ditch also and smashed head-on into the roadster.

Man Near Death From Wood Alcohol

George Griffin, Jack O'Keefe and James McCafferty, 1030 Tenth street, are in the city jail on charges of intoxication this morning as a result of a wood alcohol drinking escapade yesterday.

McCafferty spent the night at the Emergency hospital and was thought to be in a serious condition but he recovered this morning and was taken to jail. Dr. O. D. Hamlin is authority for the statement that it was wood alcohol the men drank, but the police have been unable to discover where the men obtained the beverage.

New York Exchanges Observe Holiday

NEW YORK, Feb 23—The Stock Exchange and other New York markets were closed today in observation of Washington's birthday.

SCHOOL TRAFFIC GUARD TRIBUNE-T. & D. TOPIC

New pictures of the demonstration in traffic regulations by the traffic squad of the Oakland Police Department are a part of The TRIBUNE-T. and D. News Weekly at the T. and D. Theater.

The new scenes show the right and wrong way to pass a street car and the safeguards that are exercised at Oakland schools to prevent accidents when the schools are letting out their pupils.

Other scenes on The TRIBUNE-T. and D. News Weekly will include a repetition of the patriotic spectacle given at the American Legion ball on Lincoln's Birthday by Louis Jorgensen and her "pony girls"; Machinists' Union, No. 284, taking over Loring hall, the enrollment of 4000 adults at the Technical High School, and the millinery class of that school making hats.

The congregation of St. Mary's Church, at Eighth and Jefferson streets, is also shown leaving Sunday services.

MOTHER FAILS TO CATCH GIRL WIFE

Mrs. Ethel Louise Van Scoy, 15-year-old wife of Robert Van Scoy of San Francisco, who ran away from her home January 25, eluded the efforts of her mother, Mrs. L. Rutherford, to take her home from Chico Saturday night.

Mrs. Rutherford was dismayed when she arrived in Chico and found her daughter had learned of her coming and had fled. She told the Butte county police how she had stood for days on street corners in Oakland and San Francisco, hoping that her daughter might pass by.

Mrs. Rutherford accepts much of the responsibility for Mrs Van Scoy's plight. "I was mistaken in my judgment that a 15-year-old girl could marry and be happy," she said. "This is the second love tangle I have been worried over. My eldest daughter married about three months ago, lived with her husband one day and then left him."

Mrs Rutherford carried with her a note from Van Scoy to her daughter in which he renewed his pledge of affection for his wife and asked her to return to San Francisco and live with him.

FIGHT BILLED IN BAIL BOND QUIZ

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—The grand jury investigation of alleged police court bail bond practices, halted over Sunday and the holiday, will be resumed with fireworks tomorrow night. At that time it is expected Attorney Nate Coghlan will tell the inquisitors that it was he, instead of Pete McDonough, who asked Judge Oppenheim to reduce the bail of George Imperale from $2,500 to $1,000. The statement is in flat contradiction to testimony of C. Vincent Riccardi Judge Oppenheim, John V. Filipini, the attorney who Riccardi says was squeezed out of the Imperale case, and other witnesses will be called.

Egg Prices Are Due for Big Drop Soon

SAN FRANCISCO. Feb. 23.—Egg prices are due to fall within the next two weeks, if the price tendencies of previous years are any criterion, it was predicted in San Francisco today by poultry producers in close connection with market conditions.

San Francisco's daily exchange figures show that invariably the lowest quotations of the year occur in February or early in March The extreme low point usually comes the first week in March. Six times in the last ten years the low price has been established in that week; twice it was recorded in February and in two years, 1914 and 1919, it came after the third week of the third month.

Egg handlers, including poultry producers, look for a drop soon, depending on the weather in the East. To date the New York demand has been insatiable. Production in this state is on the increase

League is Told of New Drop in Prices

With a general boycott on potatoes still in force by Housewives' Leagues of the bay cities, members today received with satisfaction the announcement that egg prices within the next two weeks are due for a material fall. The Poultry Producers of Central California are the authority for the declaration.

Oakland Housewives' League holds an important meeting in the council chambers of the City hall at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. A heated discussion is anticipated when the ratification of the present State Federation of Housewives' Leagues is debated.

COUPLE WEDDED DURING PARTY

Because a marriage license kept slipping out of his inside coat pocket and once slipped so far that the rest of the party chanced to see what it was, the wedding of Miss Nellie Hopkins of Chico to Wayne Thrasher of Colusa was hastened by twelve hours.

At the home of F. M. Dreisbach, uncle of the bride to be, 1602 Sixty-fifth avenue, in the Elmhurst district, a party and shower was being given in honor of the bride-elect by Mrs. Dreibach Saturday night. The bridegroom-to-be was there too.

They had planned to be married quietly at the home of the Rev. Joseph Collins a few blocks away yesterday afternoon. They did not want such a big crowd.

But a marriage license is just a little too big for an inside coat pocket and during the party it slipped from Thrasher's pocket to the floor without his knowing it. It was picked up and the word passed among the guests.

Then there was no escaping from the insistence of the crowd. Reverend Collins was summoned and performed the ceremony. After all, Thrasher had the Washington's birthday marriage which he had planned, for it was after midnight when the minister performed the ceremony.

Miss Ruth Dreisbach acted as brides' maid and Charles Hopkins, the bride's father, gave the bride away. The couple leave today for Colusa, where Thrasher is assistant cashier of the First National bank.

WHO PAYS THE TAXES?

France is having the same experience with reference to some of her post-war problems that is being observed in this country. Both the government and the people are learning that it is impossible to co-ordinate some theories and plans when originated in entirely separate and non-coordinating sources. And as usual disturbing incongruity results, with partial failure at least for all the efforts.

In the first place, France concerned herself chiefly with the necessary program of reconstruction and the financing of that program by domestic revenues to the largest possible exclusion of foreign loans. A corrollary to this was a vigorous effort to increase production and thereby decrease the cost of living by making the country less dependent upon foreign imports. To succeed in these plans necessitated a heavy tax rate and the French government did not hesitate to impose it, the highest levy the French people have even been asked to meet since the days of Louis XVI.

Then a department of the government determined to foster a campaign for increasing the birth rate. This it was proposed to direct through a semi-official organization of public-spirited leaders among the citizens and the municipal governments of the Republic. The campaign has been started, but the only visible result so far is the opposition of the Socialists and other radicals.

So much for the government on three vital phases of French economic life. Now the people have spoken in a manner that answers the government in all three connections. The middle class and the workers remind the government of the effect of the high taxes which it has been necessary to levy and upon which the success of reconstruction and increased production seem to be inseparably involved.

The French workingman reminds the government that the simplest kind of a wooden bedroom suite costs $165 and the purchaser of such a set must pay to the government a tax of about $40. The same ratio of costs and taxes applies to all household necessities. It is no surprise, therefore, that the young French workingman and discharged soldier considers the responsibilities and perils of marriage and parenthood somewhat more formidable than before the war. The high tax rate which now prevails was formulated with the alleged purpose of making the rich pay the major part of the burden. But as is the case in every country the tax burden falls heaviest upon those less able to pay.

National taxation has a vital relation to the cost of living and other economic factors. In the United States the excess profits tax, which its framers claimed would hit the war profiteer particularly hard, [illegible] in reality not touched those disposed to profiteer nor any of the "wealthy class" whose position in the business and industrial life enable them to pass all productive costs, including taxes, on to the consumer. The consumer pays. And inasmuch as in this country the so-called wealthy class consume about ten per cent of the products upon which taxes are levied, the other ninety per cent of the excess profits and income taxes are paid by those for whom payment is a very real hardship. They are paid mainly through added cost of the commodities they require.

Congress should revise the tax schedule. It was requested to modify some of the provisions two years ago and many of the members promised to make the obviously needed changes in clauses that are inflicting unjust burdens upon the people. But nothing has been attempted so far.

A new revenue bill must be considered at the next regular session of Congress beginning in December. It would be to the very great benefit of the country if the present session should enact the tax bill for the next fiscal year. But the probability that it will do so is slight. Until Congress and the government recognize the indisputable record of the administration's existing revenue law and of the effect of unwisely devised and exorbitant taxation they cannot with good grace discuss lesser causes of the present cost of living.

Perhaps no American has ever manifested a better disposition in public life than William Howard Taft. As a national agent, entrusted with important missions; as a diplomat, a formulator of colonial policies, a cabinet officer and President he has been a familiar national figure for a quarter of a century. His tasks have been difficult and sometimes thankless, and his services have not always met with due appreciation. Yet he never "sours," but undertakes the next patriotic task with no left-over grouch. The greatness of such a character will some day come nearer a just recognition than seems to have been accorded it to date.

HUGHES AND THE OCCULTISTS.

The visiting occultists also get a warm reception from Major Rupert Hughes, famous American novelist and playwright. Major Hughes has made a long study of spiritualism and is thoroughly acquainted with the many tricks by which adepts impose it upon the gullible. If he lives a few years longer and his present genius and industry continue unimpaired he will have as many readers in the world as either Sir Arthur Conan-Doyle, Sir Oliver Lodge or M. Maurice Maeterlinck.

But to these three distinguished exponents of the Ouija board, each of whom has in his turn come to America to lend the glamor of his reputation to the mediumistic fakers, Major Hughes applies the characterization of "blithering fool." Addressing an assembly at the Columbia University Club in New York the other night, he said:

"Great as Sir Oliver Lodge's scientific attainments may be, in occult matters he is a pathetic old clown. Maeterlinck has written beautiful poetry and wonderful prose—in the field of literature, of romance he will live forever. But when it comes to spiritualism he is a liar, with all due respect to him."

This is not the strongest reference Major Hughes has made concerning the agents of occultism and others have gone to even more unrefined terms. But it does suffice to raise an enquiry as to the reason for these European defenders of spiritualism visiting America at this time. Can it be that they have never heard that Americans are rather a hard and practical sort? Or is it possible that they believe that the people of this country have succumbed to the same psychosis of unbalance which has affected Europe as a result of war tragedies and overpowering though purely physical war phenomena?

Unless they are under some such delusion they would hardly venture to aid in making this country more profitable for humbugs. Sir Oliver Lodge can hardly expect that his puerile "Raymond" has won many converts to the fetish he has abandoned science to preach. Conan-Doyle is too practical a man to mistake the satisfaction expressed over a good detective story for a readiness to follow him into the unknown. Maeterlinck has pleased a considerable number of American readers and theatre-goers and is about to extract several thousand dollars from them by the lecture device but has no authority for comparing his imaginings with the reality of after death.

These men, each of whom has won distinction in his line, and others of their kind, are undermining, insofar as they may be believed, the moral, Christian, rational conception of the spirit world. They are polluting that conception with vulgarity and inaninity. They are promoting fraud and the practice of money-making scamps. Major Hughes and others who call them to account are rendering a good service.

LIBEL ON TOM AND HUCK.

A belated charge that Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn are making pirates and boy bandits out of boys in Alameda county is not to be laid against Mark Twain. The lure of Huck and Tom was never one toward crime and, if the truth be told, has been exercised with greatest strength toward those boys who have attained full stature and in whom there still stirs some urge toward a youthful irresponsibility.

Rather lay to the hills and the springtime, to the sea that invites through the Golden Gate, and the tales that come into port on barkentines from the South Seas the unrest in [illegible]. Mark Twain's adventures were not wicked ones and the lad who starts in to be a robber is no relative to the one who stood on his head for the edification of Betty Thatcher.

The romantic and roving spirit that seizes the boy has been seizing him back through the centuries. It is what made Midshipman Easy go to sea and it is of the same stuff that our explorers have been made. The problem, if there is a problem, is to direct that spirit by literature which recognizes it without tainting it and that is the difference between Mark Twain and the dime novel. The modern boy is learning of Tom and Huck through the films and it is to be regretted that their creator could not have had a part in directing the production of those reels. Mark Twain is not to be blamed for any celluloid reactions.

There is no doubt a well defined purpose on the part of both the greater political parties to radically revise the immigration laws. Many suggestions and recommendations have been made by civic clubs and convocations. Requiring aliens to register and give an account of themselves once a year is good as far as it goes. Repeal of laws of certain states, as Nebraska, permitting immigrants to vote upon simply declaring their intentions, should be inhibited by Federal enactment, if necessary. Gaining citizenship should not be a lackadaisical proceeding. And the foreign language press should be most properly regulated.

NOTES and COMMENT

The pictures and accounts of blizzards in other parts of the country contrast violently with the temperatures of California. Nature there is hibernating, while here she is active, producing substenance for man and beast. One of her notable achievements in this line is asparagus, a shipment of which was made from Pittsburg to Chicago last week, the first of the season.

* * *

Another illustration is afforded of the difficulty of separating a public employee from the pay roll in the case of the member of the fire department. The effort was begun over a year ago, and the Appellate court has just decided that it cannot be done, and that he is entitled to back pay. Perhaps it really should not be done in this case, but there might be a shorter cut to determine the fact.

* * *

A Chicago despatch tells of a janitor who barricaded against the police and sought to stand them off with a shotgun. He was believed to be insane because he assumed that he owned his employer's building. But that should not be considered a sign. Anybody who has much to do with janitors will understand that the Chicago instance is not a solitary instance.

Alameda is well out in front in considering the establishment of a health clinic to treat diseases that are a menace to the physical well being of the human race. Such treatment would mean the dissemination of scientific knowledge on the subject, which would go far to mitigate the disorders.

* * *

Using whisky as a bait to lure persons to secluded places and then robbing them is but a bolder variant of the green goods game. The victim expects to find a cache of illicit liquors, to buy which he fetches the money, and is set upon and robbed. The whole proposition being criminal, besides making the victim a boob, he is disinclined to reveal it to the police.

* * *

The President appears to have regarded the issue as merely personal—the flouting of presidential prerogatives—while Secretary Lansing, in calling a meeting of cabinet officers while the President was incapacitated, seems to have considered that the affairs of a great nation were involved. The American people have pretty well made it known which idea strikes them as the most reasonable.

* * *

The reason given for the proposed change in the military uniform is that on account of its rolling collar it will be more comfortable, though it is acknowledged that it will not be as military. Secretary Baker refuses to sanction the change because it will entail expense on the officers [illegible] will wear. This may not be the extreme of militaryism, either, but it is very reasonable.

* * *

The ways of juries were again illustrated in two cases that were decided last Friday. Mrs. Thurston shot a woman to death and was acquitted. Miss Whitney took part in syndicalist proceedings and was convicted. The cynic might argue that to be sure of acquittal it is necessary to commit a capital offense.

* * *

The reports of poisoning from stuffed olives are injurious to a great and original California industry. They are likely to injure the ripe olive industry, with which people not sophisticated in olives are likely to classify the stuffed product. There might be something wrong with stuffed olives—the stuffing could contain a deleterious substance through accident or decomposition—while ripe olives would be entirely safe: no possibility of the contents going wrong.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

A week ago there was weeping and wailing because of the inclemency of the day which kept people at home generally. Sunday there was "nobody home." Every one in the city almost was out in the desert enjoying the gorgeous sight of miles and miles of glorious sweet scented desert blossoms, which repaid them for the trip, and made them glad that they live in the heart of the great big, surprising where, in spite of the heat and desolation of mid-summer weather, there is profusion of beautiful blossoms in the late winter and early spring. In a week's time, and what a difference.—Holtville Tribune.

Farmers, for some reason or other, have always been regarded by city dwellers as mentally and economically inferior. There is not so much of this supercilious attitude now as there used to be, but there is plenty of it left. To most young fellows in the city the average farmer is a "Rube" or a "Hick" or a "Hayseed," as it was in the beginning and will be until city folks rise above their own ignorance and provinciality. There is likewise a common notion among urban dwellers, that anybody can run a farm and that the city man by mere virtue of his innate superiority can do it, off-hand better than the farmers are doing.—Woodland Mail.

Professor "Tommy" Reed of Berkeley says that Secretary Lansing was a mere office boy for President Wilson. Reed should know all about office boys. In 1911 he relinquished his professorship to become one for Governor Johnson.—Chico Enterprise.

Three automobiles, carrying people from Portola, crossed the Sierra-Nevada summit last evening through the Yuba Pass and arrived in Sierra City for the night. The parties reported that about four inches of snow fell yesterday at Dorsey's Station and there was about two inches last night in Sierra City. The autoists who broke all winter records yesterday will continue from Sierra City via Nevada City, to Sacramento today. This is the first time that a machine ever crossed the Sierra-Nevada mountains in the month of February.—Grass Valley Union.

MUNICIPAL SIAMESE TWIN

According to a recent report, Kiakhta, Siberia, has been taken by the Reds. The immediate results of the occupation may soon place Kiakhta on the front page, since the report, if true, means that Bolshevik forces have turned the right flank of the Anti-Bolshevists in Eastern Siberia, who must control the Baikal tunnels or lose their main strategic barrier of defense or offensive line of communication. But the greatness of Kiakhta lies in the past and future rather than in the present, according to a bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society.

"Where the caravans have rested, railway stations soon will lie," the bulletin says. "Even the aeroplane follows historic trade routes. Kiakhta is an important way station on a famous commercial highway that linked two continents. It is 250 miles south of Lake Baikal. Although the completion of the Trans-Siberian railway to Vladivostok caused a temporary detour, Kiakhta is sure to be on the railway that is to connect the tea bibbers of Moscow and the tea merchants of Hankow.

"One rail head has been pushed south from the Siberian border and another line connects Peking to Kalgan, so that there remains only a thousand miles of easy railway building to shorten the tea route from Hankow to the Trans-Siberian at Verhne-Udinsk by one half, and to obviate entirely the need for transporting across salt water the tea to which Kiakhta owes its very being. Other beverages may have made cities famous but tea made Kiakhta itself. Just across the boundary line, only a stone's throw away, is the Chinese companion city, Maimachen.

"Kiakhta and Maimachen face each other across a neutral zone only a few feet wide, but they are as different as two such Siamese twins among border cities can well be. Maimachen is Chinese, bare and gray, filled with Oriental figures in the blue gowns of China. Kiakhta is Russian, with churches and great white houses and its inhabitants wear the familiar blouse and boots of the Russian from Dnieper to the Amur.

"In Maimachen, the teapot is king. The samovar rules Kiakhta. The twin cities form a station in the long route between the tea packing establishments of Hankow and the fair at Nijni Novgorod.

"With the completion of the Trans-Siberian, it became a very simple thing to load tea ships at Hankow, in the heart of China, and unload them at Vladivostok, outpost of the Czar's realm, whence a direct railway led to the heart of Russia. Then the caravan tea trade which had reached 50,000,000 pounds a year, began to decline. The long camel trains across the Gobi desert through Yurga, where dwells the Chief Lama of the Mongols, became fewer. The desert journey of a thousand miles, which plodding camels finished in forty days, was supplanted by a water and rail route much longer in distance but shorter in time. Steamers and boxcars formed the last straw which broke the camel's back as a tea carrier. But the tea tasters at the Nijni fair on the Volga declared that they could detect the deterioration in quality due to transport over a water route and the connoisseurs of Russia have secured a considerable amount of Hankow tea, much of it compressed into brick form, over the Gobi route. Until the iron horse takes the place of camel caravan or ox-cart, there will probably be plenty for the Mongol and Buriat camel drivers to do along the great tea trail. Recently there have been about 100,000 camels used in tea transit alone, but with the breakdown of the Trans-Siberian, caravans have been changed from anachronism to necessity and between one and two million camels are being used in Mongolia, Trans-Baikalia and Manchuria.

"The Mongols along this age-old trail between Kalgan and Kiakhta are good-natured and hospitable. They are expert horsemen and they still 'capture' their wives in true Lochinvar style, although a previous arrangement is usually made with the father of the bride. Their felt yurts, or tent homes, are almost bare of furniture and wealth is reckoned by the number of heads of live stock which the individual possesses. Although they are devout Buddhists, the Mongols find strict vegetarianism in the desert an unattainable ideal. They are popularly famous as descendants of the conquering hordes of former days and as owners of the picturesque camels which enliven the usual pictures of the Tatar wall at Peking."

VIRGINIA TRUE TO PRINCIPLE.

Shall Virginia surrender the last vestige of its independence to the federal government? Shall it entrust to the congress the regulation of its suffrage wherein, except for the few years of military occupation, it has been its own arbiter? Shall it stultify itself by subordinating democratic principle to political expediency? Virginia stands ready to answer, and its answer is a thunderous chorus of "Noes" that reverberates from the mountains to the sea. That answer the state confidently expects the general assembly to hurl forth to the waiting politicians of both sexes who seek to sway it from doing the will of the majority.

Virginia will not sell itself. It is not on the political bargain counter. Haranguing and pleading from Washington will not alter its determination. Suffrage threats and the card-index system will not suffice to change the mind of the assembly. It has withstood other assaults, and it will repel this one. The time has not come when Virginia will place political policy before political righteousness, or consent willingly to have its ballot box placed at the mercy of the central government. At least this one democratic heritage remains, and the assembly will safeguard it.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

What You Should Do When Someone Falls of Apoplexy

By DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University)

You often pick up your daily paper and read that some friend of 55 to 70 has been picked up on the street or elsewhere unconscious. This is often put down as "a heart attack" or "acute gastritis."

As a matter of record, acute gastritis never causes either unconsciousness or death. It commonly produces nausea and vomiting, but little worse.

As for the long suffering heart it is made the goat and is about the last thing in the world, no matter how sick and ailing it is, to cause either loss of consciousness or death.

Apoplexy is the most frequent cause of sudden collapse, unconsciousness or death. A stroke of apoplexy is really a break or rupture of a vein or artery, generally the latter, in the skull.

This results in a hemorrhage in or around the brain.

It occurs most ofen in elderly persons, especially those prematurely old, with high blood pressure and who are "full blooded."

The treatment of compression of the brain, brain injury and apoplexy is the same. Raise the head on a pillow and give the sufferer plenty of fresh air. Send immediately for medical help. Pending the arrival of the doctor cold cloths may be laid on the head if there is no wound of that region. Do not in any case give alcoholic stimulants. If by chance the unconsciousness is due to a blow, coma, drugs, diabetes or kidney disease no time has been lost because the first aid treatment is practically the same.

In any event, the nearest physician is to be summoned with haste and all of the family notified of the condition.

Perhaps the best thing you as a non-medically trained person can do is to leave the victim alone, except to loosen tight collars, belts, corset and shoes.

There is a hemorrhage going on in the skull. If the blood clots it may check itself very quickly. If the victim is moved around too much it may do more harm than good by increasing the internal bleeding.

With as little disturbance as possible apply hot water bags, hot bricks or some similar hot pack to the extremities. This may draw enough blood away from the head to permit the small leak in an artery there to be plugged spontaneously.

AMERICAN PLANES FOR CHINA

French interests operating airplane passenger lines in the Orient have purchased in this country eleven airplanes, spare parts and supplies valued at $400,000, the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association announced recently. The shipment is now on its way by rail to San Francisco, whence it will be sent to Japan, China and the Philippines.

This is the first commercial shipment of airplanes sent by American manufacturers to the Orient. The Chinese government recently purchased British war machines valued at 40 million dollars. Pilots and mechanics to be used in the Oriental passenger service will be recruited in this country.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

BURGLAR IS FRUSTRATED BY HOLIDAY

BERKELEY, Feb. 23—If today had not been a holiday a safe-cracker would have succeeded in an attempt made last night to rob the office of the Berkeley branch of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, Shattuck avenue and Bancroft way

Walter Hubbard, janitor of the telephone company residing at 2329 McGee avenue, entered the building shortly before midnight last night. As he opened the door he heard footsteps and saw a flash of light. Calling out he received no answer and upon investigating found that the combination had been pried off the office safe. The back door was open but no trace was found of the intruder. Patrolman J J Fisher, Charles Penning and Ralph Pidgeon sent to investigate found that the safe combination had been pried off with a screw driver and a stove poker, substantiating the police belief that the job was the work of an amateur

Hubbard rarely visits the offices on a Sunday but because of today's holiday sought to have his work concluded last night. B A Glover manager of the telephone company, spent part of yesterday afternoon at the office of the Alpine Wood and left locked. An iron bar on the back door had been pried loose by the intruder to gain entrance

The safe contained several hundred dollars in currency and checks. According to the police the amateur safecracker is the same person attempting several weeks ago to loot the office of teh Alpine Wood and Coal company of which Councilman Carl Bartlett is former owner. The burglar was also frightened away at the latter place

Coeds, Men and Faculty Join to Advocate Big Tent and Side Attraction Monday

BERKELEY Feb 23—Under the classic oaks of the University of California campus an unique scene will be enacted next Monday

Staid dignity will be cast to the winds by student and professor alike. For the "circus" is coming to town! Not the ordinary circus is this to be but one in which student talent will furnish everything, from the awe-inspiring hippopotamus to the merriest of clowns and the most daring of trapeze performers

It is the first time in four years that the campus "sirkus" is to be held and no effort is being spared by members of the 'Big C' society under the auspices of which it is being arranged, to make it a success. The big tent with its never-ceasing wonders will be there on California Field. Fringing it will be side-shows and stands to dispense peanuts, popcorn and real circus lemonade. Co-eds will help to perform and to sell tempting wares

The 'sirkus" will come as the crowning feature of the campus Labor Day held every leap year. Monday morning will be spent by the men students at work on a natural amphi-theater in the hills back of the Greek theater, where student performances may be held. Picks and shovels will be cast aside at noon and the rest of the day given over to merriment.

"Stunts' of all kinds will be featured on the "sirkus" program. One of the side-show features will be a real '49 camp with dancing girls and all of the required accessories. For the day co-eds will become Oriental maids, trapeze performers, Hawaiian dancing girls and other entertainers for the large crowd expected both at the afternoon and evening performances. Prominent among the dancers in one of the side show features will be Miss Minora McCabe, Miss Beth Cereghino and Miss Margaret Morgan, three of the best known sorority girls on the campus

The "sirkus" will be open to the general public, the funds raised to go to student activities.

CONFERENCE OF IROQUOIS CLUBS OPENS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 23—Forty-five Democratic leaders from different sections of the State are meeting in San Francisco this afternoon and evening at the annual conference of the State League of Iroquois Clubs to discuss the political situation for 1920, adopt a platform and resolutions, elect officers and outline preliminary measures for co-operating with party leaders in the forthcoming Democratic convention

Despite the comparatively small number of delegates when contrasted with the hundred who attended former conferences of the league delegates today said that what was absent numerically will be made up in accomplishment. "I guess the combination of a holiday and the fact that probably some of the delegates are tired of conventioning accounts for the small number attending today's meeting" declared one of the delegates

Among some of the resolutions to be submitted at the conference when it reconvenes [illegible] today will be one endorsing United States Senator James Phelan and his attitude on the Japanese question, endorsement of the administration of President Wilson and also of the Raker Scott regional bill which would call for a system of national highways

The official business of the convention will end with the nomination of officers for the present year who are to be nominated from the floor. Tonight these delegates will attend a banquet at the Palace hotel

Those elected members of committees at the morning session were: Platform and resolution, Edward White, Ben R Tabor, Mrs Nora Rasmussen, Henry Columbat, Mrs Charles L Donohoe, Dr Margaret Mahoney and J E O Brien

Committee on order of business: George Beck, Mrs Carry Hoyt, president of the Women's Democratic Party of Berkeley and John P Hare

Committee on credentials: Thomas A Clark, Mrs Charles Miller, Mrs George A Uheman.

The convention is being presided over by John A Livingston, grand sachem of the league

The program at the banquet will include an address of welcome by Livingston, an address on the administration at Washington by Lewis Byington, an address on California's opportunities by Ben Tabor, on Americanism by Louis Mooser, and addresses also by Justus S Wardell, district internal revenue collector, and Mrs Carrie Hoyt. Thomas Clark will officiate as toastmaster

Dean Hunt Reports on Work Of U. C. Agriculture School

BERKELEY, Feb 23—Constant growth in the demands upon the agricultural department of the University of California, in the number of students enrolled, in the investigations conducted by its faculty and otherwise is indicated in the annual report of Dean Thomas Forsyth Hunt of the college to the president of the university. Indication of some of the activities of the department outside of teaching farming is found in the following:

[illegible] 1500 analyses of food in a year. The division of soil chemistry has analyzed 2000 soil samples and answered 1414 letters. The division of veterinary medicine has reported on 86 animals. The division of dairy industry has analyzed 115 samples of butter, 163 of cream, 23 of cheese. For the United States navy it supervised the manufacture of 159 273 pounds of butter. The division of pomology has conducted 251 demonstrations in pruning

The engineering division has distributed 971 blue prints of farm structures. In the seed laboratory 2963 samples of seed have been tested for purity and germination. Over 7000 tests of 1700 pure bred dairy cows owned by the extension work in agriculture is beginning to pick up since the war, but only 1448 students completed mail courses during the year

An analysis of the research problems of the year is given by Dean Hunt in his report with special reference to the deductions from the more important experiments conducted. Data were reported on 118 projects on which members of the department were at work during the year, of which 25 had been undertaken for the first time

One series of experiments hahd to do with the finding of relief for vineyardists for whose product the winery market has been killed by the prohibition amendment. Drying of wine-grapes is among the methods considered but the summary of the experiment concludes "None of the means of utilizing wine grapes promises complete relief to the growers

Woman Claims Self Defense In Hurling Iron at Husband

BERKELEY Feb 23—Actions speak louder than words, according to the theory of Mrs R D Mackle who lives at 825 Bush street, San Francisco

Mrs Mackie and her husband spent yesterday at the home of the former's brother, Edward Wetmore, 2705 Otis street. During the afternoon Mackie is declared to have taken a few drinks and then is alleged to have attempted to beat his wife. An electric iron hurled at the psychological moment by Mrs Mackie saved her a beating it is alleged but it also sent her husband to Roosevelt Hospital with a deep gash in the head

Mackie was given first-aid treatment at the drug store of Tom Caldecott, Adeline street and Ashby avenue while the latter summoned the police ambulance. Officer R E Dowling later took the injured husband home where Mrs Mackie awaited him with open arms and peace was declared in the family circle

WEIRD RITES INVOKE RAIN FROM MILLS

Not satisfied with the showers last night and determined that the seasonal shortage shall be made good, Mills College students this noon invoked the clouds to tears of merriment by the weirdest series of campus rites ever seen at the institution

On the theory that every man and maid knows that there is one thing which he no sooner plans to do than showers fall the Mills students planned to do all those things at once. So the full force of 430 appeals was turned loose on the campus today from 12 50 until 1 10 o'clock. It was one of the world's first celebrations, the success of which would have been complete had it not been spoiled by rain

There was one girl who brought along a pan of sugar and molasses, butter and flavoring and stirred up a batch of fudge. "It always rains when I make molasses fudge," she explained as the appetizing odor floated upward

There were many who wore dresses which carried a rain jinx, there was one who carried a doll, many with parasols, and a group who picnicked under a tree. One sang and a tall girl practiced on the cornet

As a massed attack on the jinx the affair was voted a success and if it does not rain the girls say there is something wrong somewhere.

Proof! Musical Proof!
—EDISON DARED
—OAKLAND HEARD
—OAKLAND BELIEVED

Could it be true that even Edison had produced an instrument which could sing so perfectly that its singing could not be detected from that of living artists? The music-lovers of Oakland doubted, but they were convinced

On February 19th, 2000 Oakland musicians and music lovers assembled in Oakland Auditorium Theater. Marie Morrisey sang in comparison with re-creations of her voice by this new phonograph. Harold Lyman, flutist, accompanied her.

The leading Oakland papers were represented at this test.

The OAKLAND TRIBUNE said

"None of these, nor her other characteristics seemed to escape the Edison. It was not always apparent, even, whether she or her record was singing, the charm carried home, whichever its source"

This from The ENQUIRER

"Miss Morrisey sang alternately in many of her numbers, with Edison's 're-creations' of her rich voice—and smilingly defied her auditors to tell with eyes closed when she herself was singing and when the contralto notes were emanating from the throat of the mahogany cabinet beside her on the stage"

Wherever the story has been told, or the picture shown, everybody wants to see

This Phonograph That Amazed Oakland

You can see it in our store.

What's more! You can have it for yourself

The phonograph used in Oakland was an Official Laboratory Model of the New Edison. It was a replica of Edison's original three million dollar model

We have some of these same replicas. We guarantee that each and every one of them will sustain the same test that was made at Oakland

Buy the phonograph that sets the pace—the phonograph that proves before it claims. Come in today and hear the New Edison—the most discussed, most tested, most praised phonograph in the world.

BILL TATE AND JACK KEARNS DUE IN OAKLAND TODAY FOR FIGHT WITH GUNBOAT SMITH

G. Caldera Again Stops Granat Bros.

Cammozi is Hammered From Box in Trying to Add Second Win.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

Frank Cohen, manager of the Granats Brothers overworked his big trump. Eugene (Lefty) Cammozi in trying to prevent the TRIBUNE All Stars from copping the amateur championship of the state when he shot Cammozi back against the All Stars at Recreation park yesterday afternoon after he had hurled one of the best games of the series to shutout the Stars in the morning. Two weeks ago, Cammozi looked like a real ironman in pitching the Granats to two wins over the Mayrose Butters in one afternoon, and Cohen thought that he would take a chance of the left hander repeating against the All Stars. Gene made the All Stars look foolish in the morning, but the All Stars came back in the afternoon and made him look the same way. They punctured his delivery for four runs and nine hits before he was yanked from the box in the fifth inning. The final score was 5 to 1.

Pat Kilhullen, manager of the All Stars and his players became considerably worried over the loss of the morning game and they could see the state amateur championship hanging in balance should the Granats cop the afternoon game. So Pat knowing that Caldera who had won the first game for the All Stars from the Granats, was in grand shape, ordered him to the mound in place of Johnny Gillespie who had Saturday evening been announced as the All Star flinger for the afternoon game. While working out the other day at St. Mary's college, Gillespie hurt a muscle in his arm, and although a physician fixed the injury, Kilhullen feared to take the chance of starting him. But Johnny is satisfied as long as the All Stars won the series and he will get the same cut as the other players, as well as being in line to pitch the game in which the All Stars will meet the Halton-Didiers at Alameda next Sunday afternoon.

Starasinich Makes One Of Longest Hits at S. F.

Cammozi worked in the first inning like he meant to hand out another defeat to the All Stars, retiring Christensen, Silva and Rowher without trouble, while in the first inning against Caldera, the Granats got runners on second and third and then Caldera forced Fonseca, one of the best hitters on the club to pop out. From this inning on, the All Stars had the game packed in their grips, for Caldera allowed only three more hits and deserved a shutout, as an error in the ninth inning let the only run for the Granats over the plate.

Pete Starasinich who starred in both contests for the All Stars by his wonderful caring of the keystone bag, opened the second inning by finding Cammozi for one of the longest hits ever made inside Recreation park. The ball bounded against the left field bleacher wall not many feet from the clubhouse and counted for a two-bagger. After Gregor and Nelson were out, Claude Mitchell got his first hit of the series, a hard clean single to center that scored Starasinich. Claude was caught stealing second.

"Seacap" Christensen Was A Big Star in Series.

"Seacap" Christensen, the little left fielder of the Best Tractors might today have his name signed to a San Francisco Seal contract had he not signed last week with Joe Devine. Charley Graham, George Putnam and Charles "Doc" Strub, sat in the press box and commented on the wonderful work of Christensen during the series. Their opinion is that he is one of the most natural players to be uncovered in many moons. They like his fighting spirit, his fielding and hitting. They said all that after they had watched "Seacap" land on Cammozi for two doubles and then Farber for a single. He is a left-handed batter, but has proved during the series that he can hit them when thrown from any side. Transbay fans had been trying to make Christensen or Dooley their "goats," but before yesterday's combat was over, "Seacap" had [illegible] the fans singing good words for him. [illegible] first hit of the series by lining a hot one off Corrigan's gloved hand. Christensen [illegible] down the third base line before he hit to center for his first double, putting Tifer on third. "Doc" Silva pickled one to center for a single that scored Tifer and Christensen to put the score 3 to 0.

Cammozi Walks from Box After Making Game Try.

In the fourth inning the All Stars continued to bunch their hits for another run. With Gregor in the morgue, Nelson singled and moved to third on Mitchell's second hit to center. Mitchell stole second, [illegible] to leave a chance for Casey to display his strong throwing arm, a perfect peg to Fonseca catching Claude off second. Lanky Tifer's single scored Nelson from third.

In spite of the beating Cammozi had been given and also the signs by Cammozi that he wanted to be replaced by another hurler, Cohen sent the southpaw out to start the fifth inning. Old John Rain was dropping pretty hard about this time, but Cammozi was willing to try again. Christensen was the first batter to face him and when he landed on the horsehide for his second double, Cammozi walked from the box on his own accord and Cohen sent Farber to the mound. Cammozi on his way from the hilltop was given a well earned applause by the fans.

Silva greeted Farber with a hit over second and [illegible] stopped at third. Doc was forced out by Rowher, but Christensen scored. With the rain falling fast and the score 5 to 0 in their favor, the All Stars seemed pretty anxious to get the game over quick, so Pat [illegible] only one or two worries in the remaining innings.

Caldera Should Have Won by a Shutout.

Caldera went [illegible] after the second inning, and when some of the transbay fans began kidding him in the sixth inning he shut them up by retiring Baker, McKnew and Mooney on strikes. Five batters in all earned their way to first base against Caldera and not one batter worked [illegible] for a pass. The San Leandro boy had tough luck in not registering a shutout. In the ninth with one out, Mooney singled and went to second on Fonseca's fielder's choice. Umpire Campi claiming Starasinich did not touch second base after getting Rowher's [illegible] right, [illegible] looked like he was [illegible] to Starasinich [illegible] boot and Mooney scored. [illegible] two batters, Swan and Burns, [illegible] by Caldera.

Tech. High Nine is Walloped by St. Mary's Batters

St. Mary's defeated the Tech high school by a score of 12 to 1. The hard-hitting Saints had their eyes on the pill, and got thirteen hits off Keller. By the hard hitting of Keeley and Bill Doran of the Saints they were able to pile up the runs at their leisure. Keeley is batting .500 at the present time and proves to be a valuable man to the Saints. Hal Doran, who is the captain of the saints, was relieved by Arch Medin. In the [illegible] inning Dorn proved to be the heavy hitter of the day by knocking the ball against the right field bleachers for a home run. Hay of Tech proved to be the heavy sticker for his [illegible] by knocking a three-base hit.

Union Irons Defeated by Thistles, 1-0

As predicted in these columns, the California Soccer cup tie between the Thistles and Union Iron Works at 8th and Market streets, San Francisco, yesterday afternoon was responsible for a splendid exhibition. The Thistles registered the only goal of the game. Despite the threatening weather a large and enthusiastic crowd was on hand. Manager Campbell of Union introduced a last-minute surprise in the person of Cotton, the crack Olympic goal keeper, who took the place of Russell between the sticks. Platt and Ollerton, the Seattle stars, were not on view for the Tanks as expected, nevertheless Campbell put a powerful eleven on the field.

The Thistles wisely adhered to the line-up which has been on duty all season, and consequently the teams lined up as follows:

Thistles—Willis, Gove, Hunter, Fraser, Tapella, Hambleth, Highett, Roberts, Gibson, Finlayson and Edlin.

Union Iron Works—Cotton, Middleton, Wood, Garside, Norbury, Holmes, Dyer, Elliott, Boyd, Towns and Picknell.

COLTON'S MISTAKE COSTLY.

Referee Askham started the teams in action at 2.45 p. m. and right from the kick-off Union made tracks for Willis, where Hunter, with a powerful punt, relieved the danger, enabling his forwards to make a dangerous raid which was repulsed with difficulty. Not to be denied, Union returned to the attack, some delightful combination by the whole forward line leaving Boyd in splendid [illegible] high, however. Play was now almost entirely in the Thistle end, splendid trys by Towns and Boyd missing by inches only. Thistle now appeared to [illegible] their stride, and their open swinging style of play was rather puzzling to the Union defenders. Still it occasioned much surprise when Edlin, taking advantage of a mistake by Colton, put Thistle one goal ahead. This success was greeted with much enthusiasm.

UNION TRIES HARD

Nettled by this reverse, the Union boys again took up the pressure, Willis saving from Boyd, Picknell and Elliott with nothing to spare in clearing his lines. Willis was given admirable assistance by the veterans Gove and Hunter, who were giving a splendid exhibition. Press as they might, the Union could not secure the equalizer, half time finding them one goal in arrears.

Immediately after the resumption Union again took up the attack, but were soon given the right-about by Tapella, from whom Roberts secured possession, and after working for position, shot past by inches. In an effort to avert defeat Campbell made a change in his line-up, moving Holmes to the forward line in place of Elliott. Holmes seemed to infuse the necessary dash and for some time the Thistle defenders had to be on the alert.

However, try as they might, the Unions could not get the ball in the net.

Taken all in all, it was undoubtedly a splendid game and while all the players did their part nobly, Gove, Hunter, Tapella and Roberts of Thistle and Wood, Garside and Towns of Union are deserving of special mention. Askham refereed in a faultless manner.

Oakland High 110-Pound Basket Five Cops Championship

Frank Boek's 110-pound Oakland High School basketball team cinched the championship of the Oakland High School League by defeating University High at the Oakland court by a score of 30 to 15. At half time the score was 16 to 5 in favor of Boek's boys, but the University players came back in the second half and made the game one of the hardest that the Oakland team has played. The little fellows of both teams showed excellent playing. Coughlin of Oakland High was the individual star, making two long shots from the center of the court, as well as cutting off a number of chances for University scores.

The Oakland team now plans to issue a challenge to the 110 champions of the P. A. A. Also Boek's players are ready to accept challenges from any of the 110-pound teams. For games write to Manager Lloyd Coughlin, Oakland High School.

That the Oakland quintet was wonderful basket shooters and clever guards is shown in the number of points they made in the four games of the O. A. L. and the number scored by their opponents. The scores are:

Oakland High	27	Tech. High	18
Oakland High	39	Voca. High	8
Oakland High	40	Fremont High	18
Oakland High	30	Univ. High	15
Oakland	136	Opponents	57

The line-ups and points scored by each player in the Oakland-University game follow:

Oakland—Caldwell 12 and Rinsdale 8, forwards; Duerr 4, center. Coughlin 4 and Breslow 2, guards; Lewis, Wong and Heifield, extras. Total 30.

University—Taylor 7 and Ridgley 1, forwards; Burg 5 center; Donovan and Brown 2, guards. Total 15.

Commerce Chamber Nine Wins From Bean Sprays of S. J.

It looks like President Walter D. Cole is going to get splendid support from Chairman Woodwards baseball team this season, as the Commerce team came out winner again Saturday afternoon on Cal Ewing Ball Park against one of the fastest country teams in the interior. The Bean Spray Club of San Jose were the opponents, loosing by the score of 7 to 4. Monty Pfyl, first sacker, has gotten together a well-balanced club and it looks like they will put up an awful battle next Saturday in the University of California opener. Red McLain, an ex-California heaver, will pitch against his old pals, as will Al Hiester cavort at short, and Claire Goodwin, also an ex-Cal. star, play second. The game will be played on California field, starting at 2:30. The game at Coast League Saturday ended as follows, with Hiester for the Commerce team and Phillips for the San Jose as the hitters; Lyons also pickled 3 off Red McLain.

Goat Island Boxers Are Transferred to Mare Island

VALLEJO, Feb. 23.—The "fighting stable" across the bay will be augmented next week by the arrival of four crackerjack battlers from Goat Island. Sailors Johnny Webber, Pinky Crosky, Terry McGowan and Johnny Fortney is the quartet that are to be transferred from Goat Hill to the cantonment. The entire stable is under the charge of "Hippo" Burns the noted naval trainer.

JACK KEARNS COMING WITH COLORED BOXER

"Big Bill" Tate, the giant negro heavyweight who meets Gunboat Smith at the Auditorium Wednesday night is due in Oakland this afternoon from Los Angeles. Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey wired yesterday that he would probably accompany Tate but if he was unable to get here today he would surely be on hand the night of the battle and would bring Dempsey with him. Tate is one of the biggest fighters in the ring today being taller than Fred Fulton and he is reputed to be remarkably fast for his size. Gunboat Smith is only a little "feller" and some of the fans are wondering how the Gunner is going to reach the Tate chin without the aid of a step-ladder.

Smith put on a busy day at his training quarters in San Rafael and Billy Shannon is authority for the statement that the Gunner will bowl Tate over. "I have watched the Gunner since he first started in the game" said Shannon yesterday afternoon, "and I honestly believe he is better today than ever. The old boy has obtained a new lease on life and I will have a bet on him to bring home the bacon Wednesday night."

The Tate-Smith scrap will be backed up by a strong list of preliminaries with Johnny Arrousez and Joe Gorman being featured in the semi-wind-up.

Gossip for Baseball Fans

By MAURY PESSANO.

The hitting star of the afternoon game at Recreation Park was Walter "Seacap" Christensen, left fielder for the All Stars. In four trips to the plate he got a pair of doubles and a single, the double being off Lefty Cammozi in the pinches. Besides getting those hits he handled several flies to the outfield, one being exceptionally hard. He scored two of the All Stars five runs. Hal Gregor at first base and Harold Nelson in right field for the All Stars also showed well in hitting and fielding in the series. Joe Devine has all three of the above-named youngsters for his Calgary club and can be thankful that some other manager did not beat him to them. Joe has watched his youngsters in all four games of the series and showed a big smile yesterday afternoon when friends spoke of the splendid work done by the three kids.

Another boy on the All star club who played fine in both contests was Pete Starasinich, second sacker. Pete went like an old-timer around the keystone sack, and handled a lot of hard drives in the morning game that looked impossible. There are very few boys around here that have it on Pete when it comes to playing any position, for he is as valuable in the infield as in the outer garden. In the afternoon contest he leaned on one of Cammozzi's fast ones and sent it up against the left field boards for two sacks. It was this hit of Pete's that started the fireworks for the All Stars.

Milton Steengrafe, another member of the Calgary club, pitched a fine game of ball in the morning contest, and although he lost it was no disgrace to taste defeat at the hands of Gene Cammozzi, the Granat's best bet. Steengrafe, before he was sent to the clubhouse by Manager Kilhullen after he and Ollie Burns of the Granats collided, was found for but five hits, which is some nice twirling.

Joe Devine will get his boys together very soon for spring training. Several of the boys on the Calgary roster are local players so Joe will not need to worry very much in lining them up.

Charley Graham, manager of the San Francisco Seals, stood outside his office at Recreation Park yesterday afternoon and grabbed Joe Dooley, the local catcher who performed with the Hall-Scotts and was picked for the All Star team. Before Joe could get away from the Seal boss he had signed a 1920 Seal contract.

Claude Rowher, captain and shortstop for The TRIBUNE All Stars, is one boy that would have little trouble in grabbing a steady job in professional ball. His work around the short-patch in both contests was a feature, and several of the scouts who watched the boys perform saw a regular infielder in Rowher. Nothing is too hard for him to tackle while his hitting is unusually timely. Although he went hitless in both games, his playing at the short-patch made up for what he lacked in the hitting department. Next Sunday afternoon the Alameda fans will get a chance to watch the flashy infielder perform when the All Stars take on the Halton-Didiers at Lincoln park.

Manuel Duarte, manager of the Halton-Didiers, was out in the morning game to give the fans the dope when each batter went to the plate. His work of announcing each batter was a help to those who were keeping score. Manuel is very much pleased in getting a game with the All Stars for next Sunday and is going to have his strongest club in the field. Babe Hollis or Steengrafe will do the chucking, while Manager Pat Kilhullen of the Al-Stars will work behind the log for the Clothiers.

Next Sunday at San Leandro the C. L. Best Tractors and the Shasta Limiteds will play their first game of a series of three. Last summer the two clubs met in therce of the best games of the 1919 season.

Blue and Gold Gossip

By DOUG. MONTELL

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb 23.—The California Varsity basketball players redeemed themselves for the loss of the first game against the University of Oregon when they came back strong and slipped the Northerners a decisive beating Saturday night by the score of 33-19. At no time was the result in doubt, for California using a switchel line-up [illegible] without substitution was too formidable of a defense.

Led by Art Eggleston, who was the star performer, the Bruins started with the opening whistle and ran up a score of 10-2 in the first few minutes of play. Eggleston led with a shot from half length on the first play and followed it with two more of similar character before Oregon scored their first field basket. The lead gave California confidence and the Bruin teamwork picked up and the team held together until the final gun.

The fact that Oregon was held to four field goals in the entire game is in itself proof that the Bear defense was almost airtight.

While Art Eggleston did the brunt of the shooting and led with six field goals to his credit, still the work of Symes and Green was responsible for the score that California ran up. Oregon minus Chapman at guard did not play as good a game, Bellar substituting lacking experience and fouling too frequently to help his team.

DURNO HELD DOWN.

Little Eddie Durno tried as hard as the night before but was held under control and was a marked man, the last goal of the game being the only field basket that the little fellow made. He was forced to resort to long shots which were not effective, Green and Majors mussing up all attempts to feed him within reasonable shooting range.

Captain Anderson of California, played a good game throughout, getting the jump at center continually which allowed the Bruins to put over plays on the jump that materially aided the [illegible].

BRUINS GO NORTH.

California left Saturday night for the North, where they meet Washington [illegible] and the University of Washington in a series of two games each. The California team [illegible] to be in shape and in as much as Oregon triumphed over both these teams California is good for at least an even break on their Northern trip. At the same time Stanford left for the North where they meet the University of Oregon in two return games and then continue on to Corvallis where they engage the Oregon Aggies in a two game series. At present the Cardinals are leading the Pacific Coast Conference and bid fair to retain their present standing in their northern trip.

The line-ups and score:

Oregon (19): Durno (13) and Lind (2) forwards; Latham (2) center; Bellar (2) and Jacoberger guards.

California (33): Symes (17) and Eggleston (12) forwards; Anderson (2) center; Majors and Green (2) guards.

Substitutes, Oregon: Manerud for Bellar.

Field goals, Oregon: Lind 1, Latham 1, Bellar 1, Durno 1.

California: [illegible] Symes 2, Anderson 1, Green 1.

Fouls shot—Oregon: Durno; attempted 15, made 11, missed 4.

California—Symes; attempted 22, made 13, missed 9.

Fouls committed—Oregon: technical 4, personal 11. California: technical 5, personal 6. Referee—Kearns. Timer—Christie. Scorer—Poisdorfer.

FRESHMEN DEFEAT STANFORD.

The California Freshmen ball team maintained the fast pace they have been setting all season in a preliminary to the Varsity game, when they took the Stanford Freshmen into camp by the score of 36-22. The Bruin babes led all the way and with clean cut teamwork were able to play rings around the Stanfordites.

California's whole teamwork was built up around Captain Coop, forward and all-around player who led his team in scoring and figured in every play that went down the court. A better passing and shooting forward has not been developed on a California Freshman team in many years.

O'Neil, who replaced Loorz at center for California also led in scoring points for the Blue and Gold Babes.

Rogers of Stanford was about their whole show, doing the foul shooting and leading in field goals scored.

The line-ups:

Stanford Freshmen (22) Howell (6) and Rogers (16) forwards; DeGroot (2) center, Pollard (2) and Anderson guards.

California Freshmen (36) Coop (20) and LeHane (2) forwards; Loorz center, Riebe (4) and Thompson (2) guards.

Substitutes—Stanford Freshmen: Austin (2) for Rogers; Carpenter for Anderson; Tritle for Carpenter, Burkhart for Howell.

California Freshmen—O'Neil (10) for Loorz; Walton for LeHane, Spence for Riebe.

Referee—Harris. Timer—Christie.

Junior Golds Win 130-Pound Basketball Cup

A 52 to 6 score in Saturday night's game gave Bob Hager's Junior Golds of the Oakland Y. M. C. A. undisputed claim to The TRIBUNE cup for the 130-pound class. Advance dope predicted a hair-raising contest, but the almost impregnable defense of the "Y" quintet, coupled with a flashy offense of snappy passes and sensational dribbling, soon shattered all of the bonfire hopes of the Park boulevard five. The miniature "steam roller" of the Oakland "Y" has averaged 67 points per game in the five games played in The Tribune League, and the combined scores of their opponents adds up to just 62 points for a total.

Duffy was easily the star for the Park Boulevards and was responsible for both field goals scored and one foul goal, thus scoring five out of the six points. Kennedy scored the only other point by a foul goal.

Each man on the Junior Gold lineup had a part in the scoring. Meillette, 11 field goals, 4 foul goals; Brobst, 5; Captain Chantler, 5; Fighting Gilbert, 6; Brown, 1. The score [illegible] each half was 31 to 3.

The Emerson 145-pound team forfeited to the Waffles.

GOLDS PLAY SAN JOSE

The Junior Golds will play one more game before they tackle the Olympic Club team. The game will be played with the fast 130-pound team of San Jose on the local "Y" floor at 8 p. m. sharp. Tomorrow night's game is the second one played with San Jose this season. The Junior Golds took the first game, which was played at San Jose. San Jose is the team which scored the largest number of points against the Golds this season.

[illegible] will be between the Waffles, 145-pound "Y" team, and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's team from San Francisco. Second game called at 9 p. m.

Lack of Hits Cause of Loss Of A. M. Game

Pennants and Belt Buckles Are Presented Winners of Tribune League.

By BOB SHAND.

The TRIBUNE All-Stars ran true to form yesterday afternoon at Recreation Park, San Francisco, cleaned the Granats five to one and annexed the "bush" championship of the bay district. The All-Stars dropped the morning combat because they could not hit Lefty Cammozi but they showed their real form after parking lunch and the Granats were helpless in the afternoon. The series called for the best three out of five games. The locals took a pair of games the previous Sunday and needed but one more victory to cinch the series so they went out and stepped on it yesterday afternoon. Gene Caldera had the San Francisco champs eating out of his southpaw while the Oakland boys hammered Cammozi to all corners of the lot.

The morning game was a rather listless affair principally because the boys did not have their batting raiment on. Milton Steengrafe donned the mound for the locals and Cammozi operated for the Granats. A ball team cannot do much good for itself with a quarter of binglers—that's why the Granats took the opening game three to nothing. Three wallops in the old lucky seventh did the trick and the locals were never given a chance to break into the tally column for the remainder of the game.

"Mighty Casey" Did Not Strike Out.

Claude Rowher, the fielding star of the series aided the Granats in getting their tallies as the U. C. boy juggled a hot one off Fonseca's bat. Fonseca took a slant at the situation and swiped second. Doc Silva made a nice catch of Burns' fly but Swan tore loose with a real hit and purloined second. With men on second and third it looked panicky for the Oakland boys and Casey, next man up looked real determined. Despite his name Casey did not flivver like the mighty Casey who once struck out, instead he uncorked a man's sized double that chased both runners home and won the ball game for his club. Cammozi looked over four bad ones and was forced at second by McKnew. Then Baker added to the misery of the loyal Oakland rooters by driving out a single to score Casey. Corrigan forced Baker to end the inning but the damage was done as the All-Stars could do nothing with the shoots of Cammozi.

The locals had a bright chance to score in the second inning when Nelson was safe on an error and was bunted along but Dooley and Steengrafe fanned. Steengrafe filled the bags in the third but got out of the hole. Cammozi drew a pass and McKnew beat out a bunt. Christensen came in to take Baker's fly but Corrigan walked to jam the corners. Any kind of a hit would have won the ball game right there but Mooney was an easy out, second to first.

League Winners Get Pennants and Belts.

The game was stopped in the fifth inning while the TRIBUNE pennants and silver belt buckles won by the Judsons and Peacock Autos were presented. Clyde Dorha, manager of the Peacocks accepted on behalf of his club while Charlie Drolette, in the absence of any of the Judson managers accepted for the iron workers. President Fred Krumb, of The TRIBUNE league, made a neat little speech while the TRIBUNE-T. & D. movie man turned the crank.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TENETS ARE TOLD

TWO LECTURES DELIVERED HERE BY BOARD MEMBER

Two lectures on Christian Science were delivered in Oakland this week by Virgil O Strickler, C S B, member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

At a lecture given by Mr. Strickler under the auspices of Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist, in Elm Theater, Oakland on February 19 the introductory remarks by Mrs. Josephine Clara Scott, first reader, were as follows

Friends Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist, in Oakland, bids you welcome

More than fifty years ago Mary Baker Eddy rediscovered the healing power of Truth as demonstrated by Christ Jesus One of the various activities instituted by Mrs Eddy for giving to the world a knowledge of this Truth that makes us free, is a Board of Lectureship We have with us this evening a member of that board

It gives me great pleasure to introduce to you Virgil O Strickler, C S B, of New York City, member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass, who will now address you"

Mr Strickler lectured for Seventh Church of Christ, Scientist, Oakland, at the Municipal Auditorium Theater, Sunday afternoon, February 22, and was introduced by Elbert A. Wright, first reader, who said

'Friends Seventh Church of Christ, Scientist, of Oakland, welcomes you here this afternoon. Our presence indicates a desire to learn more of Christian Science, its application to our daily needs and the overcoming of all the ills which the flesh is heir to

'Mrs Eddy established the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston Mass of which the speaker of the afternoon is a member It gives me great pleasure to present to you Virgil O Strickler, C S B, of New York City, N. Y, who will now address you"

Mr Strickler in his lecture said:

'As it becomes more generally understood that through the ministry of Christian Science people are being healed of sickness, sin, unhappiness worry, fear and other discordant conditions, there is an ever-increasing desire upon the part of the general public to learn how these results are accomplished It is the purpose of this lecture to explain how Christian Science does these things There is no mystery about Christian Science healing, nor is it difficult to understand It can be stated without any reservation whatever that every person who is willing to do so may learn through Christian Science how to heal sickness and to destroy the desire to sin, for himself and others.

MANY DIFFERENT RELIGIOUS BELIEFS

It is said that there are more than two hundred different kinds of the Christian religion alone, not to mention the hundreds of other forms of religions that are not Christian. It is a fact that people do entertain widely differing religious beliefs In many instances the differences are irreconcilable, and yet every one believes with all of the sincerity of which he is capable that his own particular beliefs are true. It must be conceded that, in the main, all people are equally honest and equally sincere in their religious beliefs The only reason why they are grouped together in different forms of religions is because they honestly believe that through their own particular form of religion they will find the good which they so earnestly desire

'As one considers the subject of religion from this broad viewpoint it becomes entirely plain that most of the people in the world are believing as their religion many things that are not true

"True religion consists of spiritual truth, and not of erroneous beliefs, hence it follows that one's religion is limited to the amount of spiritual truth he knows, and that erroneous religious beliefs are only so many delusions that serve no other purpose than to obstruct spiritual growth.

"Christian Science aims to destroy erroneous religious beliefs by substituting a knowledge of truth in place thereof, and to destroy out of the human mind all evil qualities by planting good qualities in their stead It wages relentless warfare against all wrong mental qualities It seeks to substitute love in place of hate, unselfishness in place of selfishness, honesty in place of dishonesty, and truth in place of error It lays tremendous emphasis upon the necessity for bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ' (II Cor. 10 5), as the Bible commands It shows that the cause of all disease and sin is mental, and not physical and that both sickness and sin are destroyed by the evangelization of the human mentality with truth and love It teaches without any reservation whatever that the truth taught and practiced by Jesus, when understood and applied, is sufficient without drugs or any material means to heal the sick and regenerate the sinner, and Christian Scientists everywhere are engaged daily in demonstrating and proving this to be true.

"Every student of religion should begin to give heed to what the Bible teaches concerning the importance of looking to the mental rather than to the physical for deliverance from human discord. We read in Romans 8 6, 7, 'To be carnally minded is death, but to be spiritually minded is life and peace Because the carnal mind is enmity against God for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be' Again in Philippians 2 5 it is said, 'Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus,' and in Romans 12 2, 'Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind.'

'These significant statements from the Scriptures leave no room for doubt as to the cause of sin, disease and death, or their cure The carnal mind is nothing more nor less than the unregenerated human mind It is the human mind in its natural state, when filled with hatred, selfishness, deceit, dishonesty and other evil qualities, and with superstition and false beliefs These evil and erroneous mental qualities result in sin, disease and death, and in all human discord

"The command is to get rid of erroneous mental qualities, and to have in us the Mind which was also in Christ Jesus,' for in this Mind there was not a single sinful quality, nor any superstition or false religious belief Thus the human mind is renewed by the destruction of erroneous and sinful mental qualities, and the substitution in their place of qualities that inhere in the Mind of the Master.

As this renewing process goes on, sickness, suffering and discordant conditions begin to disappear, and when it is finished and every mortal thought has been brought into subjection to Christ then man will be transformed from a sinning, suffering mortal into a state of peace and harmony The carnal mind with its sin and superstition produces the conditions that lead to death, while to be spiritually minded, that is to have the Mind that was in Christ Jesus, is life and peace Christian Science teaches that this is the precise process by which human beings are saved from sickness and sin

'It will thus be seen that Christian Science healing in every case is spiritual and results from the operation of Truth or divine Principle in human consciousness and not from the action of one human mind upon another, nor from human will, nor from hypnotism, nor from mental suggestion

'To summarize the matter in a single sentence it can be said that Christian Science healing is accomplished through the activity of right thinking and right living, and in no other way can one demonstrate the Principle that heals

MRS EDDY'S DISCOVERY

"Mrs Eddy is acknowledged to be the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, and many people ask what it is that she has discovered In reply, it can be said that she has discovered the law of Spirit which is spiritual truth.

"Mrs. Eddy also studied the miracles in the Old and New Testaments, and came to the inevitable conclusion that all of those events were correlated by means of an underlying spiritual law that had been known and understood by the men who wrought them, and she said that if she could discover the law it would be found to operate in the same manner now as in Bible times, that it would be a healing law, and would now heal people of sickness and sin and every evil human condition the same as then.

"This idea grew and expanded in her consciousness until it became the impelling motive of her entire life. In the year 1866 she discovered the law of Spirit, and named it Christian Science After waiting nine years, during which time she subjected the Principle that she had discovered to the broadest practical tests in healing sickness and other forms of human discord, she published a statement of Christian Science in a book which she entitled 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures' This book is now everywhere recognized as the only text book of Christian Science A great religious movement has formed around its teachings, which in one generation has girdled the earth with its churches. The spread of Christian Science has been phenomenal, and its growth has resulted from healing Every adherent of Christian Science has actually been healed of some sickness, disease or sinful appetite, and most of them have been healed of many such conditions These facts are easily verified, and are worthy of very serious consideration.

SPIRITUAL LAW

"Mrs Eddy discovered the law of Spirit as truly as Sir Isaac Newton discovered the law of gravitation, and this fact should be thoroughly understood. Just as Newton discovered that the movements of material bodies are regulated and governed by this material law, so Mrs. Eddy discovered the Principle that governs the entire universe, including every detail in the lives of men That supreme, creative, governing, omnipresent Mind or Principle is God, the only cause, the only creator, the only ruler of man and the universe

SOURCE OF GOOD AND EVIL

"Outside of Christian Science very few people have ever reasoned out the question to their own satisfaction as to where good and evil come from, and still fewer have even a satisfactory theory as to how good may be secured or evil avoided in actual human experience

"All through the centuries there has been a widespread belief that good and evil come as the result of luck or chance, but this belief is necessarily incorrect Among all polytheists, or those who believe in many gods, there is the belief that some of the gods send good and that others send evil, and they seek to propitiate the latter by sacrifices and rites, believing that in this way alone they can escape from evil

'Among monotheists, or those who believe there is but one God, there is the belief that the one God creates and sends both good and evil. This belief, however, involves so many impossible contradictions that it has led actually to the belief in the existence of an evil being called 'devil,' who is supposed to create and send evil. Thus to escape the belief that God sends both good and evil those who call themselves monotheists are really polytheists, for they actually believe in a God of good, and in an evil power, or devil This in turn makes it necessary for them to determine in belief the sphere of activity and the relative power of each Since the Bible declares, however, that God is omnipotent, that is, that He has all power, monotheists have come generally to believe that such power as the devil is supposed to possess has been conferred upon him by God, and that God permits the devil to send evil in the form of sickness, sorrow, sin and death, to afflict and destroy human beings

Without going further into the matter than merely to state the case, it will thus be seen that there is much confusion of belief among Christians and other monotheists concerning the nature and origin of both good and evil and as to what causes their activity in human experience, and until this is corrected by positive knowledge it will be impossible to deal with the subject intelligently, or to think about it accurately

'Christian Science shows that all good comes to man from God through the operation of His laws, and that evil originates in the human carnal mind, which is 'enmity against God' Evil is not an entity It has no kingdom and no king It has no mind, no presence, and no laws The only power it can ever exercise is what it derives from human belief in it, and human acceptance of it

MAN

"Sooner or later every one must learn the truth about man. When one asks himself, who is man? what is he? where does he come from? is he spiritual, or is he material? many channels for thought are opened Upon the correct answer to these questions will depend the solution of every human problem.

'Every one has read the two differing accounts of creation in the Bible In the first chapter of Genesis we are told that God created man in His own image, after His own likeness, and that He made him good In the second chapter of Genesis, however, we find the allegorical account of how God came to this earth and made man out of the dust of the ground Then follows the story of Adam and Eve, and the Garden of Eden We also read that a deep sleep fell upon Adam, and then that sin appeared and brother murdered brother and so, from that time until now the man made of dust has been a sinner and has been at enmity against God

In view of all of this it becomes vitally important that we find out the truth about man Was man made in the image and likeness of God, and hence created a spiritual being, or was he made out of the dust of the ground made out of the dust of the ground as a material being? Christian Science accepts the first account of the creation as true and insists that man is spiritual, and not material This makes it necessary for Christian Science to explain how it is possible for man to be wholly spiritual when we seem to see him as flesh and blood with our actual physical eyes Christian Science does this, and makes it perfectly clear by showing that the material man is nothing more or less than the carnal mind's false concept of man

'The carnal mind is entirely material, hence it 'is enmity against God,' because God is Spirit and Spirit and matter are opposite The carnal mind is composed of the aggregated beliefs founded upon the testimony of the five physical senses, which senses are wholly material, hence, the carnal mind being material cannot comprehend nor cognize the things of Spirit.

"It is these material elements entering into the human mind that cause it to see everything as material and to think in terms of matter By an inevitable reversal it reduces everything to the dead level of matter in order to comprehend it

THE ADAM-MAN

"But no matter how sincerely people may believe that God is a magnified man, seated upon a material throne, and having a material habitation in a material place called heaven such belief does not make it true. God is Spirit, and His universe is wholly spiritual. There is not one material element in Him nor in anything that He created He did not create matter in any form, nor did He create a material man God created everything spiritually and not materially, and the only kind of man created by Him is the perfect spiritual man, made in His own image and likeness, precisely as described in the first chapter of Genesis

The Adam-man is not the image of God, and in the second account of the creation in the second chapter of Genesis it is nowhere stated that the Adam-man was made in God's image and likeness or that he was made perfect. Those statements are to be found in the first chapter and are used in relation to the real man But in spite of this, people have gone on believing that the Bible taught that Adam was made in God's image

"From the foregoing consideration of the subject of man, and of the difference between spiritual man and the so-called material man, it is obvious that there are certain questions concerning the nature and character of matter that may be examined with much profit.

MATTER

"Since the material man is only the carnal mind's misconcept of man, it follows that matter has no entity, and is in every case nothing but material thought objectified Christian Science shows that 'there is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter,' Science and Health, page 468, lines 9 and 10, and that, 'Matter has no sensation,' ibid, 485 3 Everything in the objective world, which appears to human sense as matter, is merely the visible manifestation of material thought, formed in the material or carnal mind, and cognized by the physical senses as a material thing If these statements concerning matter be true it will be seen at a glance that they will explain many phenomena in human experience which hitherto have been unexplainable That they are true is now settled absolutely and conclusively, as will be seen

'When Mrs Eddy first made the discovery that matter in every form has no intelligence, life, sensation, or substance, but is merely the false mental concept of the material or carnal mind, her statements were not accepted as true by physical scientists They declared that matter was real substance They asserted that every object, whether it be a star, a flower, a rock, or the human body, was composed of atoms brought together and held together under varying conditions, and that the atom was material Hence they said that since the starting point of matter was the material atom, matter must of necessity be substance

'Mrs Eddy took no pains to defend her statements upon the subject She had seen the truth about it and, knowing that it was the truth, she was quite content to let the statement of her discovery go into consciousness, well knowing that in the end the truth would prevail It is most interesting, therefore, to observe what has taken place since then. Within recent years a physical scientist discovered that the atom is not the starting point of matter, and that the atom is itself composed of electrons. When asked to state the nature and character of the electron, he said that it was energy, which is not material substance. Since then the physicists have come out frankly and fairly and now say that any inquiry concerning the nature and character of the electron should be referred to the metaphysician, and that the whole subject belongs to the domain of metaphysics and not physics

'The far-reaching effect of this is at once apparent for it frankly admits that the starting point of matter is not material, but mental

CAUSE AND CURE OF DISEASE

'The importance of this cannot be overestimated All sin, disease, and death, [illegible] belief of life, intelligence, sensation, and substance in matter If it be true, and it now seems to be settled, that there is no life in matter, that it has no sensation or intelligence, and is not substance, then it follows that all material theories concerning disease, and the method of solving all human problems, will have to be changed from a material to a spiritual basis If matter is itself merely a thing of thought objectified, it follows that disease in whatever form is also merely the objectification of diseased beliefs upon the human body, and that such beliefs originate in the carnal mind, and not in the body, but are manifested on the body only after they are formulated in the material or carnal mind. If this be true, and it is true beyond all possible question, it then follows that the correct way to treat disease is not through matter, nor by giving material remedies and drugs to the body, but by destroying the images of disease out of the human mind

Every one must see at a glance that disease is not itself an entity It has no mind, intelligence volution, nor presence Disease is neither self-created nor was it created by God It originates in the first instance in the carnal human mind in the form of diseased thought, and is then objectified on the body by the material beliefs of that same carnal mind The true way to cure it, therefore, is to give to the human mind something that will neutralize and destroy the disease producing qualities and beliefs The thing that does this is the Christ-truth, which Christian Science brings to the human mind, and in this way Christian Science has healed very many people from all kinds of diseases.

NO SUBSTANCE IN MATTER

"Jesus knew that there was no substance in matter, and he knew it so perfectly that he walked through solid doors and walls He knew what was true about matter, namely, that it is only the manifested belief of the material, carnal mind, and since he did not have that material mind, matter did not appear to him as substance His consciousness was spiritualized He knew that the only substance is Spirit, but because of the material element in their consciousness the people were unable to see or comprehend Spirit as substance. They could only think of matter as substance, and therefore to them matter appeared as substance

"Knowing that there was no substance in matter, he knew that man was not material. Mrs Eddy pointed out many years ago in Science and Health (see pp [illegible]) that Jesus saw the real man where mortals saw the mortal man, and that his true view healed the sick. The more one ponders over this statement the more it becomes apparent that it is necessarily true When there came to Jesus the man who had been born blind and who had grown from infancy to mature years without the perfect organs of sight, Jesus healed him instantly He looked through the material veil and saw the real man, who, in every case, is perfect Jesus knew that God had never created one of his children without sight. God never made an imperfect man. Man being perfect has perfect spiritual senses, and by seeing the perfect man, Jesus pulled away the mask and allowed the perfect condition to appear. When the paralytic was brought to him, Jesus, by seeing the real man, pulled away the mask created by the material beliefs of the carnal mind, thus allowing the real condition of harmony and perfect being to appear and the man was instantly healed Since the real man is perfect in every case, when the imperfect material beliefs are destroyed by the operation of the truth, human beings cannot fail to manifest improved conditions

"Jesus also knew that since man was not material and does not live in matter, he could not die in matter. He knew this so clearly that he was able to call Lazarus forth after his body had been in the tomb four days Jesus knew that the real man, being spiritual, can never die, for God is his Life When he stood before the tomb of Lazarus he knew that the only thing that had taken place there was that certain human beings, who were governed by the carnal mind, had accepted a changed belief concerning Lazarus They believed that he had lived in matter and was material, and hence that he had died in matter Jesus looked through the mask and saw the real man who was alive all of the time, and by seeing the real man, Jesus destroyed the false concept, and thus made it possible for the real condition of Life to appear Having seen the real man, who was alive every instant, all that Jesus needed to do was to say, 'Lazarus, come forth' and he came forth, alive

MAN IS NOW IMMORTAL

"The belief that man is now material, but that his immortality will appear after the death of his physical body, is rapidly giving place to a better understanding It is beginning to become tolerably clear to many people that death is not the doorway through which huban beings pass from a material state of existence into the kingdom of heaven

'St Paul taught and declared that death is an enemy that can and will be destroyed Enoch got rid of his physical body without dying Elijah did the same Obviously they destroyed and got rid of every material and erroneous mental quality. This evangelization went on until there was nothing left in their consciousness but the spiritualized thought They brought every material thought into obedience to Christ, and when the last mortal thought had thus been conquered and destroyed there was nothing of the carnal mind left in their consciousness to throw a material concept over them People were then no longer able to see them as material men. They literally walked with God, as the Bible states, for material beliefs of the carnal mind no longer intervened to separate them from Him.

"Jesus submitted to the crucifixion of his body on the cross in order that he might be the Wayshower. He had already raised from the dead Lazarus and the daughter of Jairus, and the son of the widow of Nain, but he wanted to go farther and prove for the benefit of mankind that death is not a divine necessity and that it is possible for one to conquer it for himself through his own understanding of the law of Life. He wanted to prove that man is now immortal and that his immortality is brought to light not by the death of the physical body but by demonstrating the power of Spirit. He, therefore, resuscitated his own body, after it had been in the tomb until the third day He brought it back and exhibited it to hundreds of people, so that there might not be any question or dispute about it. Thereafter he got rid of his body precisely as Enoch and Elijah had done. He thus proved the omnipotence of Spirit and its availability to meet the last and final human need. He proved that God is Life and that man is now immortal and can never die, and that even the belief in death, that exists nowhere except in the carnal mind, can be destroyed by the truth which he taught."

Some people say that tea is bad for the nerves. They're right.

Others say it is a gentle stimulant, and good for the nerves. They're right too.

It all depends upon the kind of tea you drink.

Common tea, with its large percentage of tannin, is harmful to the stomach and nerves.

Very little tannin in Schilling Tea, and you avoid that by not steeping the tea too long. Then you get a pleasant, gently invigorating drink, that cheers and rests.

Cheer and rest—that is good for the nerves.

There are four flavors of Schilling Tea—Japan, Ceylon-India, Oolong, English Breakfast. All one quality. In parchmyn-lined moisture-proof packages. At grocers everywhere.

Modern Office Systems and Office Economy

To further effect economy in water charges—the office work—Tabulating and Bookkeeping Departments — has been reduced to a minimum.

No work that can be done by machine is done by hand. Every known device adaptable to bookkeeping work is installed. Wonderful machines count, sort, and add the 66,000 accounts monthly.

While meters are being read, the Addressograph Department prepares bills and record cards with section number, account number, name, address, and collection information; also new and old reading dates.

On the morning following, the Meter Books with bills and cards are passed to the Billing Department, where meter readings are transferred and extensions figured.

Bills are then passed to Comptometer Operators, while Punch Operators complete the cards by punching the account number, cubic feet of water consumed, amount of charge and class of Revenue.

These cards are then run through an almost human machine which counts and sorts them—adds the amount of water consumed and the amount of the charge. These machine totals must check with Comptometer totals of the bills. There is rarely an error.

The Water Company feels it a duty to handle its office work with the least possible expense in order to reduce to a minimum the cost of water to you.

DOMESTIC INDUSTRIAL

ELECTRIC POWER USES ARE DEVELOPED

APPLIANCES FOR HOMES FOUND HANDY

"At first it is hard for the housewife to realize the many advantages of electricity," said a prominent power company official yesterday. "Can you picture the surprise on the face of a Puritan in our forefathers' time if he were told that a force generated hundreds of miles away brought into his home over a wire, would be capable of cooking his meals? Can you imagine the delight that would be in store for the Southern lady of pre-Civil War days if she could have been shown an electric curling iron? And these are only two of the many things that demonstrate the rapid advancement of electricity.

"There is practically nothing electricity will not do for you by properly utilizing it through the many modern electrical appliances so popular in the American home and so practical.

"Electricity in the home is in more common use in California than in any other section of the world for several reasons. One is the low rate charged for electricity here; another, the fact that the home-maker demands a quick, clean way of doing her work, so that she may get out and enjoy the climate.

"The energy that is used to run these devices is at the city's door. In the mountains hundreds of miles from here are the great hydroelectric plants of the local companies, where the power is generated by water from the endless mountain streams. When the power is generated and released it is of high voltage, and is carried over the desert stretches and high mountains and then transformed into low voltage currents, ready to be used in the home. It is always 'on tap.' There is no need to lay in a winter's supply of this fuel. It is there when you want it, and is turned off when you are through. There is no waste, no short measure, no over-supply to save until it is needed; just what you want, just when you want it."

HOME DRUDGERY NOW ELIMINATED

Women long ago realized that running a household was an art. Later they were taught to consider it a science—witness the schools of domestic science. Now it has become a business and the thinking class is looking for ways and means to increase efficiency and decrease labor in every activity.

There is one general and positive medium of labor saving in the home—electricity. If women understand how to use it they will find it will eliminate the drudgery and hard work of the home with economy.

Few women at the present time really know the use and economy of an electric grill, toaster, waffle iron and percolator. With these articles they can prepare the breakfast and the noonday lunch with ease and with great saving in the cost of fuel. The service they will find satisfactory and saving of steps. There is no running to the kitchen.

The electric washing machine and iron have been successful in eliminating one of women's most arduous and tiresome duties. Many have found them a great saving by eliminating the necessity for help and giving longer life to the clothes, both of which are considerable items in these days when help is impossible to obtain and the high cost of living has turned the thoughts of everybody as to how they can best get the longest life out of their clothes. Few women at the present time seem to realize that an electric motor will run their sewing machine and eliminate all treading of the machine. More and more women are coming to understand that an electric vacuum cleaner will eliminate the drudgery of housecleaning and actually give longer life to the furnishings of the home.

Home Uses for Power Numerous

The uses to which electricity can be put in the home are so many that one hesitates to enumerate them. There is every shade and variety of lighting for the home. There is nothing that adds so much to the beauty of the home as beautiful lights. There are the labor saving devices that lighten the housework, such as the washing machine, dishwasher, iron, mangle and the vacuum cleaner. There are the tasty conveniences such as the electric percolator, the chafing dish and the toaster.

There is the boudoir set with its curling iron, massager and everything the woman might require. There is the electric shaving mug and other apparatus that the man wishes for his toilet. There is the electric heater to take the chill off the room, the electric milk warmer for the baby, the electric warming pad for the sick room.

In fact, practically everything that is to do with the home has been electrified in some measure and life made easier, more beautiful and more comfortable.

Electricity Found Safest Heat Form

Electricity is the safest form of heat known to modern civilization, according to C. D. LaMoree, an electrical expert.

"There is no need for the modern housewife's hunting around the house for a match to light her kitchen stove," he said. "Electricity at the snap of the switch eliminates all this. You need no longer stand over the greasy flames of a hot stove, as the electric range throws off a dry, penetrating, radiant heat, no flames, gas or soot, which is all efficiently applied to the cooking vessel and does not heat up the whole room, thus cutting down your cooking bill.

"The lack of flames is a great comfort to mothers, as there is no need to worry about the children being burnt. It also saves the housewife many nasty burns that she would receive when moving vessels over the flames of the old-style kitchen stove.

"The new electric heater is practically fireproof. There are no dangerous flames to set the carpet or floor on fire if, through some accident, it should fall over."

WOMAN AUTOIST SUED

RICHMOND, Feb. 23.—Mrs. E. H. Keefe, owner of a variety store in Richmond, has been made defendant in a $17,500 damage suit filed by J. J. Santos, who was struck and injured by an automobile driven by Mrs. Keefe, near the Pullman works last week. Santos claims to have suffered permanent injuries from the accident.

The accident occurred while Santos was alighting from a street car.

Portable Heater is Good Hair Dryer

The electrical portable heater was intended by its manufacturers to warm persons and rooms. This it does, but the women have discovered an entirely different use for it, unthought of by the manufacturers. By experimenting they have found it makes a wonderful hair dryer.

After the hair is washed they sit down in an easy chair, place the electric heater on a table and allow it to dry their hair, while they read or work. The warmth thrown out by the electric rays are exactly the kind that dry the hair fastest and give it new life and color.

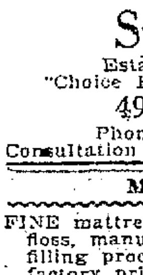
THIRTY YEARS OF MISERY FROM BLOOD DISEASE



Angelo Johnson

During this long period I suffered untold agonies from painful eruptions due to impurities of the blood. I went from one hospital to another and spent my entire earnings year after year, but obtained no relief. Finally I went to the Fong Wan Herb Co. and drank their herb tea. I began to improve immediately and now, after 3 months of this mild and harmless treatment my system is thoroughly cleansed and my sores all gone. Out of gratitude for this marvelous relief after 30 years of despair, I am giving this company my photo and testimonial. My address can be obtained at their office.

THORKILDSEN IS ASSAILED FOR CONDUCT

"Great wealth is a menace to society in the hands of those who use it in the way the Thorkildsens have used theirs," declared Superior Judge Works of Los Angeles in awarding Mrs. Selina L. Thorkildsen a divorce from Thomas Thorkildsen, the borax magnate. Judge Works gave Mrs. Thorkildsen $30,000 as her share of the property, $15,000 alimony and $10,000 attorney's fees out of the million dollar estate.

Thorkildsen had received $105,000 in salary since June, 1917, evidence showed. The community property totaled $45,000.

FINER INSTINCTS LOST.

That the Thorkildsens were so "drunk or merely filled with liquor without being drunk, during their life together; that their better and finer instincts were submerged or destroyed," Judge Works declared in his scathing arraignment of the pair. The judge said that it had been shown clearly that Thorkildsen was unfaithful to his wife and on these and other grounds the divorce was granted. He said further:

"The record abundantly shows that Thorkildsen and Agnes Smith were guilty of misconduct. It makes no difference whethetr the misconduct took place in the living room, the sun room or the gray room, or in all three rooms. It is not unworthy of note that Agnes Smith did not testify in the case, either personally or by deposition, although she knew of the charge against Thorkildsen and herself."

SHAME AND TRAGEDY.

Although scoring both Thorkildsen and his wife for their manner of living and the way they spent their money, Judge Works saw in them "a potentiality for good" and called it a "shame and a tragedy that they should have been brought here." In this connection, the opinon read as follows:

"I do not hesitate to say, and I should perhaps say it, after the severe language I have used toward them, that I detect something fine in both of them. Mr. Thorkildsen must be a man of ability and I am sure that upon proper occasion and when he gives himself a chance, he is one of those warm-hearted individuals who would be a friend to tie to. Mrs. Thorkildsen is a woman of rare sweetness of appearance and manner and a woman of fine mentality. She has been one of the clearest, one of the most discerning and intelligent witnesses I have ever seen on the stand. Isn't it a shame, isn't it a tragedy, that two such people, with such a potentiality for good and for service to others, should have been brought to this place in the mess we have had here, a spectacle for the world? And I don't hesitate to say that the mess is but another of the products of that great manufacturer of evil, alcohol, and that, in turn, has come from the possession of wealth and the improper use of it."

Stands Stripped of Radical Newspapers by Loyalty Squad

A round-up of all the news-stands in Oakland was made yesterday by Inspectors Fenton Thompson and William Kyle of the "loyalty squad," and more than 1000 copies of the "Liberator," an alleged radical magazine published in New York, were seized and taken to the central police station.

This magazine, according to Thompson, is one whose radical proclivities are exceptionally dangerous, as it openly champions the Soviet republic of Russia. It is edited by Max Eastman, formerly a professor of philosophy at Columbia University, and the name of Eugene Debs appears on the list of associate editors.

Thompson states that hitherto the "Liberator" has had a large sale on all the principal news-stands of Oakland, but that henceforth all news dealers who in any way contribute to the sale of the publication will make themselves amenable to prosecution under the criminal syndicalism law.

School to Entertain Freshmen's Mothers

A reception to mothers of freshmans tudents of the Oakland Technical High School will be given at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the school auditorium. Music will feature the afternoon's entertainment. The Arion trio will contribute several numbers and Frank C. Giffen, former musical director of the Western Department of the Army, will speak. Miss Nora Evans, formerly a social worker in France, will tell of her experiences in overseas training camps.

CITY SEEKS KEY ROUTE UNIT VALUE

A demand for unit values showing the cost of franchises and equipment used in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda by the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways will be made of the State Railroad Commission by the city of Oakland at a hearing to be held tomorrow in San Francisco. Opposition to the commission establishing a blanket valuation of the holdings will be voiced by Leon Gray, assistant city attorney.

The valuation hearing will afford the opportunity for the assembling of evidence gathered during the last year by investigators for the State board under the indeterminate franchise agreement voted three years ago. A provision of this agreement permits public purchase of such portions of the system as pass through each of the cities.

The San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways is now operating under forty different permits, each carrying clashing provisions and expiring at different times. Many are overlapping franchises. The city attorney claims inability to force payment under certain franchises when the company puts up claims of operating under others.

Some of the more favorable franchises expire within the next ten years. To rectify this disparity in the limits of its other franchises the company asked for blanket permits, and it is to establish values for this that the hearings have been called.

Under the charter amendments voted the cities are to share with the company in profits of operation. They are also to be represented in the control of the utility. The city of Berkeley, subsequent to adopting the amendment, withdrew from the negotiations for the indeterminate franchise.

Oakland Husbands Gasp When Wives Affect Latest Negligee

Negligee is French for neglected and careless, but it is also the description Oakland women have given to this type of lounging robe which they have just adopted. Where the "neglected" and "careless" feature comes in has not been announced.

New Lounging Attire Makes Milady Look Like Japanese House Boy or Comic Opera Star

Like a glorified Japanese house boy, of the kind that pads softly through the halls of the Bohemian club, like a rainbow in tights, or an escape from the harem is milady in her latest negligee. The Oriental note—which means trousers—has struck Oakland and husbands are still gasping at the riot in which the society woman is clothing herself for her restful hours.

The newest negligee is of flame colored crepe de chene trimmed with gold. The breeches are skin tight about the calves and the slippers are of gold. It is to be seen that there is here for the tired business man all of the home comforts of the comic opera stage. The design is said to have been originated by a society woman in New York after she had toured the various museums of the city and had noted the lack of raiment affected by the ancients. Then she went home and cut out the picture of a jockey, pasted it on a drawing board and added elaborations. The result was the newest thing in negligee, an achievement as restful as a brass band and as modest and retiring as is the sunflower.

One of the finest things about the new creation, say Oakland women, is that when the style changes one may always sell them to the producers of musical comedy.

Stranger Fed, Lodged, Steals Clothes, Shoes

Gratitude did not seem to be in the vocabulary of the man whom Thomas Moore, 415 Washington street, bought a meal and took home to share his couch last night. The man made away with Moore's best suit of clothes and a pair of shoes. Robert Small of the same rooming house told the police that the same stranger had made away with a suit of his clothes.

ASSASSINS' VICTIM HAS LIFE CHANCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—Vengeance of a group of radicals, enraged when their plots were given to the police, will be cheated if Albert Mamado, who was shot three times yesterday morning, is victor in the fight he is making for life at the Central emergency hospital.

Mamado, who lives at 1375 Harrison street, and who was a former civilian member of the police force, has identified Alexander Gavriloff as one of the two men who attacked him. He names Pedro Busege, for whom the police are looking, as the other. Gavriloff was arrested soon after the shooting in a raid the the police made on a house at 740 Vermont street.

Shortly after midnight two men rode up to Mamado's home on a motorcycle as he was entering the rear door. They opened fire and Mamado, drawing a revolver, returned the shots. When his trigger finger was split by a bullet Mamado shifted his pistol and continued to shoot and the men were put to flight. As they started away one turned and fired a parting bullet that pierced Mamado's lung. He was hit earlier in the knee and the hand. Gavriloff denies taking part in the shooting and says he passed the evening at a card club.

Evidence given by Mamado against a band of alleged anarchists is said to have been the cause of the shooting.

THIEF STEALS TEETH.

Police this morning are on the lookout for a thief with a brand new set of teeth. The unidentified marauder, smashed the glass in a small showcase used by Dr. W. P. Meyer, 1530 San Pablo avenue, to display his dental wares. One set of false teeth was taken.

OIL STOVE CAUSES FIRE.

Fire caused by the overturning of a small oil stove in a house occupied by flagmen at Fifty-fifth and Grove streets was extinguished by the fire department early this morning. The damage amounted to $200. The house is owned by the Oakland-San Francisco Terminal Railways.

DOCTORS USE CALOTABS FOR COLDS AND FLU

Influenza and Grippe, Like Ordinary Colds, Require Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and druggists claim that the great epidemic of influenza has conclusively demonstrated that the quickest relief for a cold and the best preventive of influenza and pneumonia is to keep the liver active so that the digestive organs may be in perfected condition. For this purpose Calotabs, the new nausealess calomel tablets that are free from the sickening and weakening effects, is the most thorough and dependable, as well as the most agreeable laxative.

Calotabs have the special advantage of not making the patient sick and weak, as they do not upset the digestion and appetite. One Calotab at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure, or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast.

For your protection, Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Sold by all druggists and your money back if you are not delighted with them.—Advertisement.

MISS WHITNEY SENTENCE IS FOR TUESDAY

Miss Charlotte Anita Whitney will appear before Judge James G. Quinn tomorrow morning for sentence. She will ask for a new trial, which will be denied, and she will then file notice of appeal, after which Judge Quinn will read the sentence, which will be from one to fourteen years in prison.

Friends were received in the visitors' room of the Alameda county jail all day yesterday by the Oakland club woman, who has been convicted of being a member of an organization advocating violence and terrorism. Miss Whitney talked freely of her past activities in the community and said she can hardly believe she has been found guilty.

"I have always been for justice and righteousness; I have always wanted to see justice done; and I have always given conscientious allegiance to this government and will continue to do so," she declared.

"If I am sentenced from one to fourteen years upon this verdict, I will serve it," continued Miss Whitney. "My case rests in Mr. Coghlans' hands and I cannot say what Shis plans are."
